

Select Candidates For Illini Girls State Offices Today

Illini Girls State citizens trooped to the polls Friday morning to elect party candidates for county and state offices. The official election proclamation was to be made in mid-afternoon Friday.

Girls State voters will mark their official ballots Saturday morning. The elected state officials will be sworn in at inauguration ceremonies Saturday night by State Representative Tom Rose.

Area Girls Win

Two area girls were among 33 elected to the Illini Girls State General Assembly Thursday afternoon. The girls, Shirley Hannaford of Roodhouse and Phyllis Platt of Eldred, were sworn in by Associate Circuit Judge John B. Wright in a ceremony held in Annie Merner chapel Thursday evening.

Immediately following the swearing-in ceremony, the assemblymen held their first meeting of the 1967 session. Among the first chores facing the assembly was the selection of a Speaker of the House.

The General Assembly will continue to meet daily until this session of Girls State is adjourned Tuesday.

Girl Staters Friday will attend two lectures, one on parliamentary procedure and one on the function of county officials.

RIGOR REUNION

June 25, Jackson Park

Rev. Mathias,

West Circuit

Pastor, Resigns

The Reverend A. W. Mathias, has announced his resignation as pastor of the West Methodist Circuit which includes Wesley Chapel, Ebenezer and Riggsdon churches.

Rev. A. W. Mathias

He has served the West Circuit two years having been appointed here in 1965 following service as chaplain-director of Sunset Home in Woodstock, a denominational home for the retired.

During Rev. Mathias' term of service all three churches in the circuit have been redecorated, remodeled or renovated. Attendance at Riggsdon has increased, the congregation at Ebenezer has doubled in size and a good average has been maintained at Wesley chapel. The churches recently voted to purchase a new parsonage for the circuit.

Rev. Mathias has been active in community affairs and is currently serving as Morgan county deputy coroner. He is vice president of the Jacksonville Rotary club, a member of the Salvation Army advisory board, chairman of morning devotions of community churches broadcast on a local radio station, a member of the Jacksonville Ministerial Association and active in Passavant Hospital's chaplaincy program.

Mrs. Mathias, a registered nurse, has been employed as director of nursing service at the Modern Care Nursing Home.

Rev. Mathias attended Greenville College and has studied at Illinois College while in Jacksonville. He has also taken evening courses in Theological work.

He has accepted the pastorate of one of the Oregon conference's largest Free Methodist Churches. The family will leave Jacksonville in mid-July.

TOP NATIONAL

TEEN DRIVER IS

EXCHANGE SPEAKER

David Culbertson, teenage JHS student who won the National Drivers' Excellence contest sponsored by the Amvets and Dodge Motors, spoke at the dinner meeting Monday evening for members of the Exchange club held at the Ranch House.

Culbertson was introduced by program chairman Milt Edge. The local youth competed against 8 drivers in the District contest; 15 in the State competition and 18 in the National contest held at Chicago. He received a $750 scholarship and a new Dodge Dart. The second place winner was the same age as the local youth, 16, and the third place winner, a girl, was also 16.

The speaker told of the contest pattern and showed an exhibit of the course.

Milt Edge, local delegate to the Illinois - Wisconsin Exchange club annual convention held June 9 - 10 and 11, at Rockton, reported. Henry Saez of Alton was elected president of the Illinois Clubs. He will visit the local club and install its new officers on July 10th.

FORMER PASTOR

WILL SPEAK AT

1ST PRESBYTERIAN

The First Presbyterian church of Jacksonville will continue the emphasis on the 140th anniversary of Presbyterianism in this city at the Sunday morning services, June 18, beginning at 9 o'clock.

The Reverend Frederick G. Tyrrell, pastor of the church from 1959-1962, and Mrs. Tyrrell, will be special guests. Mr. Tyrrell will be guest pastor speaking on the subject, "The Onward Flow of Time."

A special exhibit of historical mementos, photographs, fashions, and prized family possessions is on display in the church library. Mrs. Lawrence Crawford, Sr., is chairman of the committee which collected and arranged the display.

An informal reception for the Tyrrells will be held immediately following the church services Sunday.

Mr. Tyrrell, who resigned his pastorate at First Church in order to specialize in adult education, has been working on his doctorate at the University of Chicago. This past year, while completing his thesis, he has been teaching economics and coordinating the evening school adult education program at the Homewood-Flossmoor High School. Mrs. Tyrrell has also been teaching in a Chicago area elementary school.

DIAMOND, MORTON

ACCIDENT FRIDAY

Two persons complained of minor injuries following an auto accident shortly before eight o'clock Friday morning at the intersection of West Morton and South Diamond. City police said that Mrs. Evelyn Burke of 1016 South Main street complained of injuries sustained in the accident, and said she would seek medical treatment.

The driver of the second vehicle, Barbara A. Critchlow of Alexander complained of a head abrasion, but did not seek immediate medical attention.

Officers said that the west-bound Burke auto failed to stop for a traffic signal, and collided with the southbound car on Diamond driven by Miss Critchlow.

Officers ticketed Mrs. Burke for running a traffic signal.

Sandy Beach To Open At Lake Jacksonville

Jacksonville Lake's Sandy Beach will open to the public at one o'clock Saturday afternoon according to announcement Friday by Alderman Carl Bourn. Work to ready the recreation area has been going on night and day for weeks, Bourn stated.

The beach is in top shape and the roads to the lake have been graded to afford good transportation. All of the accommodations are in order, the bath house, concession and locker service.

Children 12 and under may swim for twenty-five cents and all others for forty cents. There is a locker charge of ten cents.

Beach hours are presently set up from 1 to 9 p.m. daily. Qualified life guards will be on duty at all times.

Mr. Bourn, who is being assisted by Aldermen Charles Quinn and Dale Brown, states there is plenty of parking room for cars.

The refreshment stand will provide hot dogs, cold drinks, and snacks. There is no towel or suit rental at the site and swimmers and sun bathers must provide their own equipment.

Not Much To Brag About

It was no cause for dancing in the streets when the House passed and sent along a $70.3 billion military budget measure described as the largest legislative appropriation in world history. It should rather be an occasion for sorrowing dismay that after so many troubled centuries of struggle from cave to spacecraft so vast a sum must be devoted to the arts of war.

The kind of world we live in makes it necessary to spend heavily to assure the national security; almost everyone accepts that. Under present circumstances, with hundreds of thousands of our troops engaged in battle halfway across the world, spending must be even heavier than usual. Indeed, there is good reason to think that more billions will have to be appropriated before the end of the next fiscal year.

We can be grateful that our resources measure up to what is required. Yet, though the need must be acknowledged, the fact that such a need exists burdens the thinking of all men of good will. As long as it is necessary to spend so much because international disputes are still settled by force instead of law, the civilized world cannot brag much about its civilization.

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

As much as five feet of water flooded the business section of Hillview Friday night when the Hurricane Creek levee broke following a 4½ inch rain.

Several bridges around Nortonville were washed away Friday night when the village got five inches of rain.

The storm damage in Jacksonville is put at more than a half-million dollars. Two of the five persons injured are reported in good condition at Our Saviour's hospital; the others have been discharged.

20 YEARS AGO

Many farmers are predicting better than normal yields for the wheat crop, but are far from optimistic about the prospects for corn and soybeans.

The state junior softball tournament will be held at Nichols Park June 27-30, announces State Commissioner Byron F. (Bus) Hogan of Springfield.

Nearly all of the 400 farms in the Sny levee district in Adams and Pike counties have been evacuated. The flood crest is now expected to arrive Saturday and many men are working around the clock in an attempt to save the 46 mile levee.

50 YEARS AGO

Relations between the Phi Alpha and Sigma Pi forces at the JOURNAL have been rather strained the past week, though war was not actually declared.

A Phi Alpha meeting without Sammy Nichols or a Sigma Pi meeting without Ensley Moore would be like strawberry short cake without the strawberries. They are not speaking just now and both of them are madder than two wet hens, about something or other.

75 YEARS AGO

Lynnville has three good stores going at full blast now.

Our little neighboring town of Murrayville doesn't propose to be out done by anybody, and with very commendable pluck and patriotism is preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July in a way that would be a credit to even a town of much larger population.

The rain Friday night was most acceptable to all the corn fields, which were needing a shower right badly.

100 YEARS AGO

THE POTATO BUG is doing considerable havoc on the coming crop in this section. We saw a couple of hands yesterday bugging their patch, (about half of a town lot), and they assured us that they had gathered and scalded between a peck and a half bushel of the pests. The modus operandi was to take a vessel, and with a handful of broomcorn, knock the insects into it.

THE TEMPERANCE Festival and Social at Strawn's Hall last night was a grand success. As near as we can estimate, five hundred persons visited the hall during the evening, but we regret to say that a great many of our substantial citizens who are the avowed friends of the cause were not present.

Communications

To The Editor:

Last Thursday's I read the Jacksonville Journal of June 14 and turned to the back page one of the odd black headlines I saw was the item of "THE D TO TOPLESS SUCCESS."

The more I read the more disgusted I became. It seems to me it speaks for itself when an employee of your paper told me a few months ago "that a mission program or church item cannot be put in your paper until there happens to be room for it because the murders and deaths have to come first."

I guess you still have this rule because I noticed in your paper with this "choice" bit of news about our representatives decision on this "particular" bill that it took place on Wednesday, June 7th, and it was published the next day. Buried deep inside your paper in small headlines was the Murrayville W.S.C.S. program on "CHRISTIAN VALUES" which was held a week before, June 1st.

There were several news items also about young people who had received scholarships for their outstanding ability and about our service men, who are giving so much in order that your "important" headlines can still be printed. They, too, were short and in small print.

Maybe if a few more church events and the good things young people do would be published instead of flashing all the crime, murder, etc. all over the paper, there would be less of the latter to publish. Of course, it may not build up circulation for your paper but it would make a more worthwhile paper to read.

Our young people can only go by the standards and examples we adults set for them. When our examples are such as your item printed, why should we be so surprised at some of the things young people do?

I think it is time we adults try to have more decent shows and better literature on the news stands. It is time to ask our representatives to use "their" time in a better way than they did with this bill.

I took a car load of High School students to Springfield, June 1st, and we visited the House of Representatives. These students were amazed at the noise, indifference, eating of ice cream cones, snacks, and confusion that went on during the session. They wondered why the representatives did not pay more attention in order to know what was going on.

Mrs. Gene Cully

To The Editor:

I write in reference to the various cartoons, articles, and editorials which have appeared in your newspaper on the Middle East situation.

On May 23, the United States position on the Middle East was stated in the following terms:

This country is firmly committed to the support of political independence and territorial integrity of the all the nations in the Middle East.

On the morning of June 5 a surprise attack was launched by Israel on Egyptian, Syrian, and Jordanian airbases (the circumstances of which were reportedly described by the Israeli Ambassador to the United Kingdom); the Egyptian, Syrian, and Jordanian air forces were destroyed on the ground. At the same time, Israeli ground forces, well-trained and ready, advanced and engaged Arab forces. Within 72 hours they had advanced to their present positions.

The territorial integrity of Egypt, Jordan, and Syria has been impinged upon by a militarily and technologically superior power. I would like to point out that, by the May 23 declaration, we are as committed to rectify this impingement as we would be if the Arab states had somehow managed to overwhelm Israel.

All of the press releases, cartoons, editorials, and so on have expressed the Middle East crisis in terms of a United States-Soviet conflict; the Arabs are delineated as puppets of the Soviet Union, while the Israelis are supposedly backed by the United States. In this frame of reference, the Israeli military triumph is interpreted as a defeat for the Communists.

While it may be true that the Israelis are backed by the United States, it is, first, false to assume that the Arabs are Soviet puppets (Communism is outlawed in Egypt). Secondly, it is false to assume that this situation is gainful to the United States.

The Arab's greatest love is his love of country. It is difficult to surpass in intensity the degree of nationalism extant in Middle Eastern nations. Although it is difficult for Arab governments to cooperate (except on Israel which they correctly regard as an intruder, the product of political maneuvering by the Zionists, with support particularly from the United States), it is clear that Arab countries are motivated by nationalism, rather than by Soviet domination.

Further, it is true, we are witness to an important military victory by the 2.5 million Israelis, but if we do not support our aforementioned promise, we will as certainly witness the further tragic alienation of 100 million Arabs along with the estrangement of an as yet undetermined number of underdeveloped nations, with the attendant probability that all of them will increasingly seek Soviet succor—a stunning diplomatic defeat for the United States.

The thousands of starving Arab refugees and the disproportionate casualty figures are extremely distressing, but the main issue is whether the United States will continue to allow its policy in the Middle East to be dominated by a nation which, engaging in "preventive" war, has wantonly ignored all the fundamental precepts of international law to which we supposedly subscribe.

Idea: Subsidies To Forestall Memoirs Of U.S. Service

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — U.S. protocol chief James Symington just may have something to put an end to, or at least curtail, all these books and memoirs which give away government secrets.

Nowadays, Symington says, it seems about every retiring government worker heads straight for a publisher, hoping to cash in on the inside story explosion.

Symington proposes House Bill 007 to protect national security. Basically, it would offer retired government workers a subsidy not to publish their memoirs.

Authors would just tell a federal commission set up by the bill how much publishers had offered for the book. The government could then decide whether it wanted to make a higher offer to thereby preserve security.

Of course, Symington tells it as a joke. The kicker is, we've learned, that more than a few retiring government workers, have taken him seriously, wanting to know what chances the bill has of passing.

Musical excerpts from American's favorite art form, Broadway musical comedy, highlighted a recent dinner given by President and Mrs. Johnson.

"It's my vintage," Defense Secretary McNamara said after the band and singers had completed renditions of songs from the most popular musicals, "There was a song for everybody here."

Vice President Hubert Humphrey's favorite, he told those nearby was "I'm a Cockeyed Optimist" from South Pacific. "There's a line in it which sums up my feelings about the world: . . . and I'm stuck, like a dope, with a thing called hope, and I can't get it out of my heart."

Those close to President Johnson say privately that the President does indeed have a sharp wit. However, one never knows whether his funny barbs are meant for laughs or to make a serious point.

Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt, we hear, found himself in such a spot during his White House visit the other day. The prime minister, quite familiar with some of the President's idiosyncrasies was hit with a punline that left him not knowing whether to laugh or offer condolences.

"And this is the East Room," LBJ said. "It is the room where some Americans indulge in something that is very close to an old Australian blood sport. 'But here in America we call it a press conference.'"

In Wake Of Mideast Fiasco

Vietnam Is More Vital To Soviet

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Soviet Union, just days ago privately hailed by many U.S. public figures here for its shrewd "diplomatic triumphs" in the Arab world, suddenly finds itself holding a handful of ashes.

U.S. officials believe dismay must have engulfed Kremlin leaders when, reading of Israel's lightning advances across Egypt's Sinai Desert, they realized they were backing a bad horse in Nasser.

Attempting to salvage at the diplomatic table what Nasser and his allies already had lost on the battlefield, Soviet and Bulgarian U.N. representatives sounded ludicrous — like stricken coaches trying to defend the New York Mets after a 15-game losing streak.

These Moscow maneuvers, to be sure, have been underscored by a vague yet obviously carefully contrived threat to take "other necessary measures" against the Israelis if they do not quickly heed U.N. resolutions to cease fire.

Nevertheless, all the official and unofficial word is that the Soviets have no intention of ranging any of their own military or naval strength on Nasser's side. Their effort seems directed at cutting their own losses in prestige and influence by limiting the scope of the Arab disaster.

How many points Moscow finally will score with the Arab world is a matter open to question. The suspicious Arabs surely have heard of the constant private assurances given Washington by Russia that no direct intervention on Nasser's behalf was ever intended. Diplomatic gesturing may seem to them frail help in their extremity.

Even if Soviet links to Egypt and Syria withstand the shattering blow dealt by tiny Israel, Moscow's net influence in the Middle East may end up far below the high plane it had achieved just before the outbreak of war.

It is broadly accepted here that Israel has altered the power balance in the region, and that any reasonable settlement of the issues must certainly place stiff curbs on the Arab's potential for future trouble-making. Their usefulness to the Russians as friends may be correspondingly diminished.

Against the whole postwar background, the Soviet Union seems now to have developed an astonishing affinity for born losers and lost causes.

Nasser is not the Kremlin's first lame horse. The North Koreans were nearly as bad, once Gen. MacArthur got set. Only Red China's late-hour intervention averted a total Moscow disaster in Korea.

Moscow's 1962 Cuban adventure aborted. Its earlier support for Communist rebels in Iran, Greece and elsewhere has not paid off.

That still leaves Vietnam, where Russia's once fuzzy role seems sharper today as aid in material and limited technical manpower increases.

Here again, the Soviet proxies are not winning. But neither are they yet clearly losing — and therein lies a danger which may have been enhanced by the war's turn in the Middle East.

Vietnam is the prime testing ground, for Moscow and Peking alike, of their agreed strategy of supporting "wars of liberation." This tactic of covert Red aggression was devised after they concluded that both nuclear combat and across-border, Korean-style war were too risky.

If that tactic fails, the Reds may be hard-pressed to invent another. This prospect, plus the frustrations felt particularly in Moscow after nearly two decades of painful reverses from the defeat of the Berlin block ade to Nasser's collapse in 1967, invests Vietnam with high explosive charge. To lose there is almost to admit that the big world game is over — at least for a time.

Ann Landers:

Protests Criticism

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-ager who is sick and tired of my parents. What I need is less criticism and more sympathy. My grades aren't so hot because I am a nervous wreck from getting yelled at all the time. All I hear from morning till night is, "Take a bath. Stop smoking. Get rid of that beard. Get off the phone. Hang up your clothes. Stand up straight. Get a haircut. Don't be so mouthy. Apply yourself."

Any advice? —WISH THEY'D GET OFF MY BACK

Dear Wish: Yes, I have some advice. Take a bath. Stop smoking. Get rid of that beard. Get off the phone. Hang up your clothes. Stand up straight. Get a haircut. Don't be so mouthy. Apply yourself.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son who is 19 has been going with a girl for two years. She is now 18. Last summer the girl had a baby which she put up for adoption. During all this trouble the girl stayed in the city, (the baby was born in a local hospital) and she and our son continued to see each other and date as if everything was normal.

Now our son and his girl are planning a white wedding with all the trimmings, followed by a lavish reception.

The talk has barely died down and my husband and I are sick to think it will start all over again. Don't you feel it would be better to have a small, quiet wedding with only the immediate family present? Please give us your opinion. —OLD FASHIONED

Dear Old: Of course it would be better if they had a small, quiet wedding, but the decision is up to the bride's family since they are putting on and paying for the affair.

By this time you are probably experts at holding your heads up and playing deaf, so resign yourselves to another stint, folks. And remember that wise, old adage — "And this, too, shall pass."

Dear Ann Landers: Mary and I have been married 11 months and one thing still puzzles me. Maybe you can help.

When Mary gets upset with me, why does she clam up and give me the silent treatment instead of coming right out and telling me what is bothering her? Sometimes her stone-faced silence goes on for two days. If I ask her what is wrong she says, "Nothing."

When I get angry I tell the person I'm angry with what's wrong and then I'm over my mad. I feel a lot better after I get my gripe off my chest, and so does everyone else.

My mother treated my dad the same way Mary treats me and he never found a solution. Can you help me? —WANT A GOOD MARRIAGE

Dear Want: You are not the one who needs help, it's Mary. The best way to dissipate hostile feelings is by talking out the problem. Boiling in silence and keeping anger bottled up does nothing but build an ulcer.

Mary should begin promptly to ventilate her feelings for "her" sake, if not for yours.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In the 1880s, a U.S. consul general in Shanghai, China, shipped about a dozen Chinese pheasants to Oregon. The birds were set free in the hope that they would reproduce, says The World Almanac. About ten years later, the pheasants were so numerous that a 75-day hunting season was declared. On the first day, 30,000 birds were taken by hunters.

Issue Warning Of Tear Gas Gun Hazards

Serious injuries have occurred recently from the accidental discharge of tear gas guns, according to a warning from the Food and Drug Administration to the Illinois Department of Public Health, Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director, said today.

The FDA said that the public should be aware of the potential hazard of such devices, which are sold commonly throughout the nation. Many of the devices, sold as a means to fend off attackers, are not adequately labeled with information concerning their explosion potential.

The guns generally are cylindrical, hollow, pen-shaped objects about four inches long. At one end there is a 20-coil spring and a sliding piece of stainless steel similar to the bolt of a rifle. At the other end there is a space for the cartridge.

A few of the serious accidental injuries reported to the FDA recently concerned a Minnesota doctor who picked up what he thought was a spray dispenser and discharged a tear gas cartridge into his hand — a Washington D. C. secretary, also shot in the hand when she triggered the firing mechanism of what she thought was a mechanical pencil.

Mr. reportedly lost the vision in one eye from the shot of what he thought was a miniature flash light.

At present, it is illegal in Illinois to carry on or about the person or in any vehicle, such tear gas devices, Dr. Yoder said. However, state legislation is pending to legalize the possession and use of these devices by females 17 years of age or older.

Should this proposed legislation become law, the Hazardous Substances Labeling Act, administered by Health Department, would apply to such devices in Illinois. They would have to be plainly labeled to comply with the federal law — "Warning - irritant - explosive charge - tear gas - carefully read instructions before loading device - keep away from children."

A Sane Lady Such As I

Part II

A hundred years ago today Jacksonville was a most quiet place. All the newspapermen had left the town in disgust because the much-heralded investigation into the conduct of the Illinois Insane Asylum—which promised to produce such juicy stories—had turned out to be a fizzle.

Mrs. E. P. W. Packard, who had instigated the inquiry, had left town too, continuing her unrelenting battle for "the rights of women."

She was some gal, as her writings plainly show.

She was a minor league nut in many ways: would eat only bread made of Graham flour, only boiled or roasted meats as "fried foodstuffs is most deleterious to the system." She didn't drink tea, coffee, malt beverages or spirits. She slept with the window open, summer and winter, and upon rising would drink a glass of rain water "to ameliorate the bowel," and then "partake of a routine of gymnastic exercises before the window before taking a cold sponge bath followed by vigorous toweling."

A Bible and Dictionary

Dr. Andrew McFarland, the superintendent, was such a mean man that he wouldn't furnish her with a pair of dumbbells for her exercises, so she was forced to use her Bible in one hand and her dictionary in the other, "which serve very well."

Although her three years in the Asylum "were very distressing to a sane lady such as I," it seems she got red carpet treatment most of the time.

And she almost drove Dr. McFarland nuts.

Mrs. Elizabeth Phoebe Ware Packard was a natural born thorn in the side of society. She was a never wrong about anything, and felt sorry for those who disagreed with her. She couldn't help it because she was right.

Some other single-minded women have gone down in American history.

There was Carrie Nation who somehow got the idea that the way to cure alcoholic intemperance was to take her hatchet and wreck a saloon every now and then.

No More Jails

There was Susan B. Anthony who asserted that if women were permitted to vote it would clean up government so fast and so well that every jail would soon be empty. Somehow things didn't work out that way.

There was Lucy Stone who agitated against "coffin nails." She went from state to state organizing children into what she called "White Brigades." They would sign a pledge never to smoke cigarettes and when she walked her singing brigades through assembly halls in various states she scared the living daylights out of the legislators. Many of them passed a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of cigarettes in the state. The Illinois law was passed in June, 1907, and is still on the books.

It reads:

Every person who shall manufacture, sell or give away any cigarette containing any substance deleterious to health, including tobacco, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days.

It was O.K. to "roll your own," but if you were under 18 you couldn't smoke in public. The penalty was not more than $10 for "each separate and distinct offense."

It's a safe assumption that no state has ever repealed its "Lucy Stone" law. Here in Illinois our legislators just have a lot of fun spending the 7c per pack tax.

And it is most ironic that Miss Stone, who never smoked a cigarette in her life, died of throat cancer.

During most of her stay at the Illinois Insane Asylum Mrs. Packard lived in Ward 5. Each patient had a room of her own, and for the most part was "just as sane as I."

Fate Of Jeremiah

Several of them were Spiritualists, then pretty much a virus in the land. Two of Mrs. Packard's best friends "foretold the war and both have lived to see the exact fulfillment of their visions, and like Jeremiah, they both had to be imprisoned for foretelling future events."

One of her best friends was a lady from Morgan county.

"She was above sixty years of age, but showed no signs of premature old age or ill health. The longer I saw her, the greater was my astonishment that she should be called insane."

"From her I learned the reason she was imprisoned was, that one night she got up a son-ambulate state, and went to her son's bed, and inflicted two blows upon his cheek with an axe. This her friends regarded as evidence of insanity, although she had no recollection or knowledge of doing so.

"This son brought her to the Asylum, and the dreadful scar on his cheek authenticated her statement. She always expressed the keenest sorrow and the most true penitence for having done this fearful deed, for this was her favorite son."

"Yet she was deserted by her family."

Mrs. Packard was always trying to "improve" her attendants. She had one that was rather irksome, so she handed her this note:

"Miss Smith: I advise you to resign your office as attendant, on the ground of your incompetency to fill the office as it should be filled, on account of your quick, overhearing temper. Your health is not good, and your nerves are in danger of becoming incurably diseased, by the strain upon them, which your present responsibilities demand."

"For your own good, I ask you to resign immediately, and in this way supersede a discharge on the ground of abusive treatment of the patients."

"Your true friend, E. P. W. P."

Miss Smith showed the missive to Supt. McFarland, and told him that if she couldn't get transferred she was going to quit, "as that nut is running me nuts."

Supt. McFarland sympathized with her. He had been getting long letters from Mrs. Packard advising him, as we would say, to "shape up or ship out." So he sent Miss Smith to the ironing room.

Mrs. Packard may have stayed in Jacksonville much longer had the investment her husband, the Rev. Mr. Theophilus Packard, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Manteno, Kankakee county, made in a patent on a perpetual motion machine turned out well.

But it soured.

He tried to sell some farm land held in joint tenancy by him and his wife, but the prospective purchaser balked, asserting that there was no court record of Mrs. Packard being insane.

This was the truth.

An Infamous Plot

So, the Rev. Packard consulted with Dr. McFarland, who then would rather get rid of his patient than inherit money.

It was arranged that she would be discharged as cured, then after she signed the deed, the Rev. would charge her with insanity, have her tried in Kankakee county, and commit her to the asylum in Northampton, Mass., where her aged and wealthy father lived.

This all worked, with one exception. The court found her a little peculiar, but not insane.

She spent the rest of her life talking up "rights for women" and supported herself very well by selling her pamphlets.

Dr. Turner, the "Instant Relief" medicine man, was arrested in Havana last week on a charge of theft and now makes his abode in the bastille of the county of Mason. Wonder if a dose of his "Instant Relief" would help him out?

The county seat election continues to dawdle on and on, and in some twelve days, nothing has been accomplished.

Next Saturday and Sunday, at the Methodist church, will be held the last quarterly meeting for this conference. Rev. Peter Cartwright, presiding elder, will officiate.

Stray hogs in our town now fetch the finder one dollar, if he can drive the porker to the county pound. And if not claimed, off to the slaughter house they go, with the shekels flowing into the town till.

DOMESTIC

June, 1867

The recent decision in the New Orleans courts that debts incurred for the purchase of slaves before the war are null involves nearly one hundred million dollars in Louisiana alone.

A petition for Jeff Davis's pardon is circulated by Southern men in Washington and it is said that the head rebel himself was no longer averse to suing for clemency.

A Texas judge has recently decided that Negro testimony is inadmissible on the trial of a white man; a Texas sheriff has lately refused to take greenbacks as legal tender; and the Texas tax-collectors were lately taking Confederate currency for taxes, when General Griffin put a stop to that nonsense.

President Johnson lately took a walk through the streets of Washington, unaccompanied by a guard, for the first time since that practice was inaugurated by President Lincoln.

The Atlantic Cable laid in 1866 was lately parted by an ice berg off the Newfoundland banks. The break is less than three miles from the Heart's Content station, and can be easily repaired. The cable of 1865 is still working.

John Wilkes Booth's Diary has been published. It is composed almost entirely of expressions glorifying his crime above that of Brutus, and complaining of the gratitude of the people for whom he had turned assassin.

Judge Marvin, of Florida, late Provisional Governor, and the present Senator-elect, is of opinion that the majority of the older citizens of the South would prefer always to live under military rule, and without representation in Congress, rather than come back into the Union with the disabilities imposed and with universal suffrage.

—Harper's Weekly

OUR RADICAL COUNCIL.

The Court House Park has recently become a common grazing ground for the bovine fraternity, the broken gates standing invitingly open to everything that wears hoofs or horns.

The august radical city council has been so deeply engaged in enforcing the "moral imperative" against our German citizens, or so intently occupied with the sage plan of digging out the town brook — to be filled up again without expense to the city by the sediment deposits of the backwater from the Mauvasterre — that they seem to have entirely overlooked the dilapidated condition of the gates of the court house park, and some other small matters in the shape of worn out crossings in the vicinity of the square, of which we have heard loud complaints.

COURT HOUSE — We learn that the county court have under consideration the question of locating the new court house on the Judge Thomas' lot, south Sandy street, one block from the square, with the view of economizing several thousand dollars on the cost, as the edifice need then have but one front. It is believed that a plan for the building, prepared by Mr. Randall, of Chicago, will be accepted.

TEMPLEARS SOCIAL — The Strawberry and Ice Cream festival given by the Templears at Strawn's Hall on last Monday night was a perfect success. The post office, grab bag, and other ecceteras were in active demand, as well as the edibles. Senator Yates, having just returned from his trip to the Plains, was present and favored the assemblage with a brief speech.

During a brief visit to St. Louis, a few days since, in passing over the road, we remarked that the wheat crop in Greene and Jersey counties is looking very fine and promising.

ITALIAN STATUARY — Our citizens will be gratified to learn that a fine stock of Italian Statuary, imported from Florence, will be offered for sale this week at the city auction rooms, south side of the square. The specimens of art are in marble, agate and alabaster.

A young woman was put in the calaboose this week, for keeping outdoor hotel without license, in the outskirts of town.

From the Beardstown Central Illinoisian:

This year's Fourth of July celebration, in our city, will be on the picnic plan, instead of the barbecue style, which is all labor and expense without much pleasure or satisfaction.

Dr. Turner, the "Instant Relief" medicine man, was arrested in Havana last week on a charge of theft and now makes his abode in the bastille of the county of Mason. Wonder if a dose of his "Instant Relief" would help him out?

OUR RADICAL COUNCIL.

The Court House Park has recently become a common grazing ground for the bovine fraternity, the broken gates standing invitingly open to everything that wears hoofs or horns.

The august radical city council has been so deeply engaged in enforcing the "moral imperative" against our German citizens, or so intently occupied with the sage plan of digging out the town brook — to be filled up again without expense to the city by the sediment deposits of the backwater from the Mauvasterre — that they seem to have entirely overlooked the dilapidated condition of the gates of the court house park, and some other small matters in the shape of worn out crossings in the vicinity of the square, of which we have heard loud complaints.

COURT HOUSE — We learn that the county court have under consideration the question of locating the new court house on the Judge Thomas' lot, south Sandy street, one block from the square, with the view of economizing several thousand dollars on the cost, as the edifice need then have but one front. It is believed that a plan for the building, prepared by Mr. Randall, of Chicago, will be accepted.

TEMPLEARS SOCIAL — The Strawberry and Ice Cream festival given by the Templears at Strawn's Hall on last Monday night was a perfect success. The post office, grab bag, and other ecceteras were in active demand, as well as the edibles. Senator Yates, having just returned from his trip to the Plains, was present and favored the assemblage with a brief speech.

During a brief visit to St. Louis, a few days since, in passing over the road, we remarked that the wheat crop in Greene and Jersey counties is looking very fine and promising.

ITALIAN STATUARY — Our citizens will be gratified to learn that a fine stock of Italian Statuary, imported from Florence, will be offered for sale this week at the city auction rooms, south side of the square. The specimens of art are in marble, agate and alabaster.

A young woman was put in the calaboose this week, for keeping outdoor hotel without license, in the outskirts of town.

Winchester Legion Auxiliary Selects Officers

By Naomi Lawson (Winchester Correspondent)

(Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER - The Winchester American Legion Auxiliary met Wednesday evening at the Legion Hall.

During the meeting a new slate of officers was elected. They are: president, Annabel Preipert; first vice-president, Mary Grey; secretary, Alta Miner; treasurer, Melinda Jennings; chaplain, Minnie Wild; sgt.-at-arms, Loretta Blackburn; historian, Edna Welch.

Officers will be installed in August. The next meeting has been set for July 12 at which time the burgo-picnic committee will be named.

Following the business meeting refreshments were served by Mildred Cockerill and Mary Grey.

To Aid Senior Citizens

A proposed Elder Citizens' Center was discussed at a meeting held at the Christian Church recently.

The speaker for the evening was Edward Hopper of Jacksonville, employed in the office of Public Aid.

Orville Foreman of Jacksonville was also present and he told of Morgan County Homemakers Service which would provide training.

Katherine Adams, president of the Morgan County Visiting Nurse's Association, told of the duties performed by this service.

Mrs. C. F. Deatherage, Waverly, supervisor of homemakers training told how the homemaking service works and the services that may be obtained by elder citizens.

The project in Scott County would be in accordance with the Older Americans Act.

Help in the home, a multipurpose center, planning and homemakers service would be administered by a paid director and board of trustees selected from the entire county.

The federal government would reportedly pay 75% of operating expenses for the first year; 60% the second year and 50% the third year. After this period, the project would operate on its own resources, the experts said.

Memorial Service Held

Following a regular meeting of the IOOF Lodge, a joint memorial service was held for deceased members of Rebekah and I.O.O.F. lodges.

Mrs. Emory Waid, Mrs. William McLaughlin, Mrs. Ed Wild and Miss Jacqueline Frank participated in the service. The vocalists were Mrs. Muri Hardy and Mrs. James Dolen, accompanied by Mrs. Muri Hanback.

Recently deceased members are Charles Shipley, past noble grand of the IOOF Lodge and a member of the Rebekah Lodge; Otto Henry, past noble grand; Don McCullough, past noble grand and Clyde Coultas.

The memorial service was attended by relatives and friends of the deceased.

Driver Fined

Richard Kraft of Concord was fined $200 and court costs in Circuit Court Friday by Judge L. A. Mehrhoff.

Kraft, driving on a restricted driver's license, was charged with driving while intoxicated and with disorderly conduct. He was arrested in Bluffs.

Large Estate Filed

The largest estate ever filed in Scott County was recorded in the office of Lawrence Gillham, Scott County Circuit Clerk this week.

The estate of Royal Oakes was filed and was estimated at a half million dollars. The wife and sons, Harold and Charles of Bluffs and James of St. Louis were named as beneficiaries.

Marriage Licenses

David George Lashmett and Beverly Jean Cumby, both of Winchester.

Bible School

The Christ Lutheran Church Bible School will be held June 19 through 23, from 9 to 11:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Marshall in Winchester.

Children age three through 13 will be included and all are welcome to attend.

The teachers are Mrs. Herb Ehler, Mrs. Gary Hurrebrink and Mrs. Charles J. Marshall.

Mrs. Gilbert Rebbe will be assistant.

Refreshments will be furnished by Sylvia Schofield, Linda Ehler, Sandy Hurrebrink, Ilene Dalhaus, Opal Hurrebrink, Mary Jane Coultas, Jean Haney, Mary Hurrebrink, Mrs. William Ehler and Margaret Ehler.

Hit By Lightning

The Scott County Court House was struck by lightning during a recent thunderstorm this week. The only damage to the building was a board, ripped from the structure.

The radio in the sheriff's office was put out of commission.

See Unlimited Gains From Oceans Program

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) In many ways, however, the scientific endeavor from the space drive and probe since the advent of the space age, a comprehensive "national oceans program" is evolving to feed the hungry, beef up military defense and open vast untapped mineral riches in the seas.

This technological assault to exploit the oceans resembles in many ways America's space program of a decade ago. It is in scientific infancy, is searching for clear-cut goals and needs strengthened coordination of State, Commerce, Interior, among participating agencies, Transportation and Health, Education and Welfare; the Atomic Energy Commission, National Science Foundation, and Smithsonian Institution.

Some aerospace firms, numerous universities and other public and private organizations are also pumping dollars into the sea for scientific research and profit.

The potential harvest from this growing national effort is tremendous.

Enough fish are available in the oceans to fill the protein needs of several times the world population. The U.S. Bureau of Fisheries, in a start toward making this available to the half of the world's population suffering from a shortage of high-quality protein, plans soon to construct two pilot plants to manufacture fish protein concentrate.

Scientists now know that the ocean surface and lower atmosphere interact as one great heat engine which drives most of earth's winds. They are working on a network of ocean-based observation stations to help produce long-range weather forecasts not always possible from satellites.

Oceanographers estimate about 50 quadrillion tons of dissolved minerals are in the world's oceans. In addition, vast reserves of oil, manganese, cobalt, nickel and copper lie under the ocean floor. Improved mining and oil drilling methods are being developed which could, in time, change the entire global economic picture.

In a significant start toward reaping these benefits, the federal budget for oceanography has grown from $21 million in 1958 to $409 million this year. And for fiscal year 1968, President Johnson has recommended to Congress a governmentwide budget of $462 million for marine science activities — up 13 per cent from 1967.

About $41 million of the increase will be pumped into nine program areas selected by Johnson's chief advisory agency on marine sciences, the National Council of Marine Resources and Engineering Development.

The nine include a new "food from the sea" program to produce fish protein concentrate; implementing a "sea grant" program to strengthen oceanographic education and research; a new study on ways to collect and utilize information learned from the seas.

They also include a strengthened program of deep-sea technology, especially to develop an ability to recover lost equipment such as sunken submarines or classified military hardware; a new research ship to work under polar ice, and new programs to promote international cooperation in peaceful uses of the oceans.

More than half the $462 million budget requested by the President is earmarked for defense. The Polaris submarine fleet must learn to operate in a wider range of ocean environment and search and rescue methods must be improved.

Midway, Music To Be Featured In Palmyra Fair

PALMYRA — Palmyra's Terry Park Industrial Fair will be held at the park June 28, 29, 30 and July 1, according to a recent announcement.

The fair will open with Children's Day on Wednesday, June 28 with reduced prices for rides between 1 and 5:30 p.m. Prizes will be given.

An amateur contest will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday with cash prizes to be awarded in each of two divisions. Competition will be held for contestants of grade school age and under and for those of high school age and older. Entry may be made at the stage a half hour before show time.

The Northwestern High School band will entertain at 8 p.m. Thursday, the Shipman Kitchen Klatter Band at 8 p.m. Friday, Lyn Symons will furnish organ music both nights.

The Terry Park Queen will be crowned at 10:30 p.m. Saturday. Contestants for the honor are: Debbie Baird, Joyce Ann Bridges, Brenda Downs, Susie Piper, Jane Ann Redfern and Judy Ann Rothe. Lyn Symons and his orchestra will provide the music.

Midway rides and entertainment by Monarch Exposition Shows will be featured throughout the week. A flower and hobby show will also be open during the celebration with numerous displays to be seen in the large exhibitors' tent.

GRACE BENSON HOSTESS FOR CARITAS PNGs

The Past Noble Grands club of Caritas Rebekah Lodge 625 met June 13 at the home of Grace Benson.

During the business session conducted by Pansy Lyons reports were given and communications were read concerning Morgan County Past Noble Grands club annual picnic to be held at 6:30 p.m. June 27 at the park in Waverly and memorial services June 18 at Litterberry Baptist church for deceased members of the IOOF and Rebekah lodges.

Plans were made to entertain Caritas Lodge June 15 with Pansy Lyons and Florence Marine appointed to the refreshment committee and Grace Benson and Ollie Mae Hill to the entertainment committee.

Organ music and games were enjoyed during the social hour. Gifts went to Edna McDonald, Georgia Ranson, Eulalia Harris and Glennis Dickman.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Ollie Mae Hill and Edith Landreth.

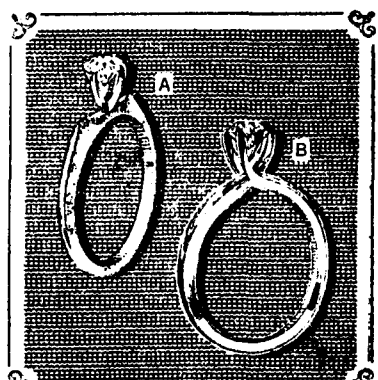

STUDENT TEACHING AT MURPHYSBORO

Among some 120 Southern Illinois University students currently student teaching under the university's laboratory experience program is Carol Morris of Route Three, Jacksonville.

Miss Morris is teaching at Murphysboro elementary school and will spend four weeks, later in the summer, at S.I.U.'s Mini-School where small classes of demonstration pupils are used in clinic sessions.

Bobwhite quail roost in circles, with their heads out and tails toward the center, so all members of a covey can fly straight off without colliding.

Janet Schroeder, Michigan Man Wed In Chapel

Miss Janet Schroeder of this city and Arthur H. Miller, Jr., of Kalamazoo, Michigan were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, June eleventh, in Rammeikamp Chapel on Illinois College campus. The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's grandfather, the Reverend Henry R. Schroeder of St. Paul, Minnesota.

Mrs. Robert Pinckney Hall of Evanston, Illinois, nee Susan Beggs of Jacksonville, was soloist during the nuptial prelude.

The former Miss Schroeder is the daughter of Mrs. Wayne Taylor, 428 Southville Drive, and the late Reverend Milton Schroeder of Jacksonville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Miller of Kalamazoo.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Taylor. She wore a lovely gown of Alencon lace and crepe with empire lace bodice and long sleeves. The slim sheath cut crepe skirt was floor length. A Watteau lace train, edged in matching white crepe, extended from bows at the shoulderline. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a rosette of lace sprinkled with pearls and French cut crystals. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. Edward Lauson of Ann Arbor, Michigan, was matron of honor. Miss Cheng-ruey Lu of Taiwan, Republic of China, was bridesmaid and Mrs. Robert Brackenridge, Livonia, Michigan, was bridesmaid.

All of the bride's attendants were gowned alike in floor length sleeveless yellow linen dresses with scoop necklines. The gowns were on empire lines and the bodices were embroidered with green leaves and seed pearls accented with gold velvet ribbon.

Gale Miller of Kalamazoo, a cousin of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Ronald Schroeder, brother of the bride, Jacksonville, and Randall Huysck of Chicago. Ushers were the bride's brother, Milton Schroeder, Washington, D.C.; Phillip Johnson, Okemos, Michigan, and John Kiefer, Birmingham, Michigan.

A reception was held at Smith House on the college campus. Assisting here were the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Milton Schroeder, Miss Marion Loetz, Rochester, New York; Miss Susan Black, Urbana; Mrs. Jerry Symons and Miss Mary Stewart, both of the city; Mrs. Ray Lloyd, Lansing, Illinois, and Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Lake Elmo, Minnesota.

After a two-week wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 739 Hinman street in Evanston.

Mrs. Miller attended Kalamazoo College where she received her BS degree in French and was made Phi Beta Kappa. She received her Masters Degree from University of Illinois and this past year taught French at the high school in Wheaton, Illinois. She is now assistant editor in French for Scott, Foresman Publishing Co., in Glenview, Illinois.

The groom received his BS degree in English from Kalamazoo College with honors and Masters Degree from University of Chicago. He is Reference Librarian at Newberry Library in Chicago and is finishing a library science degree at University of Chicago. He will start work on a Ph. D. in English at Northwestern University this fall.

Manning-Denny Wedding June 11 At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — The Reverend E. E. Ethington of Lemont officiated for the impressive ceremony Sunday afternoon, June eleventh, at the local Methodist church when Miss Bobbie Jane Denny became the bride of David Ross Manning. Palms and baskets of gladioli banked the candlelighted altar.

Joseph Hopkins was organist for the nuptial prelude and accompanied the soloist, Miss Billie June Fansler.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Denny and the groom is the son of the Ross Mannings, all of Roodhouse.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore an elegant wedding gown of white silk organza over mist taffeta featuring Venice lace at the off-shoulder neckline and lace puffed sleeves. The skirt flowed into a Chapel train. The bride wore a mantilla headdress of matching lace and carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis with ivy.

Miss Sheila Dodge was maid of honor. Miss Christine Gilmore and Miss Mary Ardis Manning, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in pastel green silk organza over taffeta with matching bow headdresses holding brief nose-veils. Each carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose.

Marc Kesinger was best man and groomsmen were Randy Stiles, a fraternity brother and the groom's brother, Guy Manning. Ushers were James Denny, brother of the bride, and another fraternity brother of the groom, Michael Pembroke.

The bride's mother chose a pink silk shantung sheath with matching color accessories. Mrs. Manning wore a beige lace sheath with matching accessories. Each wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

At the reception held at the church Miss Jeanne Sprague, Miss Colleen Henry, Miss Donna Smith and Miss Vicky White, assisted.

Following a short wedding trip the newlyweds took up residence in Champaign where the groom is in summer classes at University of Illinois.

Linda Roodhouse Becomes Bride Of John D. Cochrane

A ceremony at six o'clock yesterday evening, June seventeenth, in Annie Merner Chapel on MacMurray College campus, united in marriage Miss Linda Crabtree Roodhouse of Evanston, Illinois, and John David Cochrane of Parker's Prairie, Minnesota.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Roodhouse of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and the granddaughter of Mrs. E. E. Crabtree of Jacksonville and Mrs. R. B. Ellis of Greenfield. The groom is the son of Mrs. W. F. Schamber of Parker's Prairie and the late John Cochrane.

The Roodhouse family formerly resided in White Hall, Illinois. Dr. Gordon Michelson officiated for the ceremony at an altar banked with white flowers and greenery. Mr. Roodhouse gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a full length princess style wedding gown of beau de soie with beaded lace edging at the neckline, which came to a V at the back, and bordering the sleeveless bodice. Her Cathedral train extended from the back waistline. The bride's bouffant veil was attached to a small beau headdress. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Miss Jo Ellen Roodhouse, was maid of honor. Miss Rosemary Roodhouse, another sister, Miss Margaret Allen of Evanston and Miss Vickie Sparling of University City, Missouri, were the bridesmaids.

James Cochrane of Parker's Prairie attended his brother as best man. John Schamber, also of Parker's Prairie, Peter Roodhouse and Harry Roodhouse of Oklahoma City, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen.

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in yellow Italian silk fashioned on princess lines, with matching headpieces. Each carried an arm bouquet of yellow daisies with greenery.

The bride's mother wore a yellow raw-silk costume suit with corresponding color accessories. The mother of the groom was in a beige ensemble with matching accessories. Each wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Rowe, 1152 West State street. White flowers were used throughout the home. Assisting with courtesies here were Miss Mary Tiffany of Redwood Falls, Minnesota and Mrs. Charles Barnes of Austin, Minnesota.

After an extended wedding trip west the couple will make their home at San Jose, California where the groom will intern a year in hospital administration.

The bride received her BA degree from Carleton College at Northfield, Minnesota and her MA degree from Northwestern University at Evanston. For the past year she has taught at Glenbrook High School, Glenview, Illinois. The groom also graduated from Carleton College where he received his BA degree. He attends the University of Minnesota Graduate School of Hospital Administration.

Among the special guests were the bride's grandmothers and also her aunts, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Gardner, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Norris, of Dayton, Ohio.

Prudence Berline, Raymond G. Cole Vows In Greene

WHITE HALL — White glads and palms formed the background for the June ceremony at the First Baptist church here Saturday afternoon, June 10th, when Miss Prudence Beth Berline became the bride of Raymond George Cole.

The Reverend E. Harris Paulson officiated. Mrs. Paulson was at the organ and Mrs. Merle Lemon was soloist.

The bride is the daughter of the Howard M. Berlines of White Hall and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen H. Cole, Jr., of Huntley, Illinois.

The bride's cousin, Miss Patricia Neal, was maid of honor. Miss Barbara Jo Brogdon and another cousin, Miss Jacqueline Neal, were the bridesmaids. They wore pink shantung full length gowns with flowing panels caught at the back of the gown. The honor attendant carried deep pink roses and ivy and the bridesmaids a lighter pink with ivy.

Roger Cole of Huntley, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Richard Cole Huntley, another brother of the groom and Howard G. Berline, Rochester, N.Y., were groomsmen and ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a full length wedding gown in a light ivory beau shantung with a hand-beaded empire bodice and a line skirt. A removable panel train was caught at the back waistline. Sprays of lilacs held her tiered veil of illusion. She carried white roses, baby breath and ivy.

The bride's mother chose a beige linen knit sheath with bone and green accessories. Her flowers were pink rosebuds. The groom's mother was in yellow shantung with matching accessories and her flowers were also pink roses.

At the reception held at the church Mrs. Richard Anthony of Jacksonville; Mrs. Richard Cole of Huntley; Mrs. Howard Berline, Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Carl Campbell and Miss Mary Price, White Hall, assisted.

Among the many guests were Mrs. Claire Cole of Lakeland, Florida, grandmother of the groom and Mrs. Floss Neal, Jacksonville and Mrs. Mabel Berline, White Hall, grandmothers of the bride.

The newlyweds are making their home at 703 East Colorado street in Urbana where the bride and groom will attend summer classes at University of Illinois. The bride has her degree from the University and the groom will graduate from the College of Engineering in August.

Rogers - Hunter Nuptial Mass At Our Saviour's

The Reverend Robert Spriggs officiated at the Nuptial Mass Saturday morning, June tenth, in Our Saviour's church in which Miss Colette Susanna Hunter became the bride of Loren Joseph Rogers. She is the daughter of Mrs. Viola Hunter, 1218 South Clay avenue and the late Harold Hunter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Rogers, 345 East Wolcott street.

Mrs. Alta Eisch presided at the organ and Harold Walker was soloist.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Harry Coop. Miss Loretta Lee of Chesterfield was bridesmaid and Miss Donna Hunter, sister of the bride, was junior attendant. Cheri Rogers, small sister of the groom, was flower girl and Andrew Feller, foster brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Harry Coop served as best man. Adrian Hunter, brother of the bride, was groomsmen and Michael Flynn, Havana, cousin of the groom, was junior member of his party.

Kevin and Alan Hunter, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her eldest brother, Jack, wore a floor length gown of white silk organza trimmed with Chantilly lace and fashioned with an empire bodice with fitted sleeves. A detachable Chapel train, attached at the shoulder line, was also trimmed with lace. Her veil of illusion was held by a double crown. She carried a cascade of white carnations and roses with blue puffs.

The attendants wore floor length gowns of sky blue silk organza on empire lines. Their veiled headpieces matched the gowns and each carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations. The little flower girl wore blue taffeta and lace styled similar to the adult attendants' gowns. She carried a basket of pink petals.

The mother of the bride wore white lace over a blue nylon base with navy accessories. The groom's mother was in a navy suit with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

At the reception held in the Routh Cafetorium the following assisted, Mrs. Richard Pate and Miss Margaret Rogers, sisters of the groom; Miss Shirley Fricke, Chapin; Miss Patricia Kinder, Jacksonville and Miss Linda Gaines of Woodson. A buffet dinner was served to members of the wedding party, relatives and friends at the home of the bride's mother.

The couple will make their home at 603 Hardin avenue after returning from a wedding trip to Colorado.

The bride graduated from Routh High School in 1963 and also from St. John's Hospital School of Nursing in Springfield. She is a staff nurse (R.N.) at Holy Cross hospital. The groom graduated from Jacksonville High School and served four years in the Navy. He is employed at Anderson, Clayton and company.

Among the out of town guests were the paternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Pearl Hunter, Great Bend, Kansas; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Tounsignant, Garnett, Kansas and others from Wisconsin, Arkansas, Washington, Havana, Missouri and Peoria.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner served the Friday night before the wedding.

Joyce E. Cline Is Petersburg Bride

PETERSBURG — Miss Joyce Elaine Cline and Fred Lee Jones of Petersburg were married Saturday afternoon, June 10th, at the St. Peter's church here by the Reverend Robert Pitsch, pastor of the Madison Avenue Methodist church in Peoria, and the host pastor, Reverend Stanley Swiatek.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cline, Petersburg route one and sister of Mrs. Albert Jackson of Jacksonville. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones of Petersburg.

Mrs. Jackson was her sister's matron of honor and Miss Judy Pitsch of Peoria was bridesmaid. Charles Jones, Petersburg, brother of the groom, was best man and Wayne Jones, another brother, was groomsmen. Ushers were Albert Jackson and Randy Beavers, both of Jacksonville; Richard Cheaney, Petersburg and William Sevrens, Chandlerville.

Sheryl Jackson of Jacksonville, niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore a pink whipped cream frock. Mark Churchill, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace with Kabuchi sleeves and a full Chapel train. Her illusion veil fell from a petal headpiece and she carried a bouquet of roses and stephanotis.

The mother of the groom wore green crepe with a lace jacket. Her accessories were beige. The bride's mother wore a pastel arnel knit with a Chanel jacket. Her accessories were white. Each wore a corsage of white roses.

After a wedding trip in Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee the couple will live at 1146 North Bond street in Springfield.

The reception was held in the cafeteria at Junior High School in Petersburg.

Sherry Ann Frost, Lawrence Coultas June Newlyweds

WINCHESTER — Baskets of white gladioli and yellow daisies were used with palms at the candlelight altar of the First Baptist church here for the wedding Sunday afternoon, June eleventh, when Miss Sherry Ann Frost became the bride of Lawrence Leeton Coultas.

The Reverend Hays Wilshire officiated for the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Wilshire was soloist and Miss Sandra Kunze-man the accompanist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Frost of Winchester and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coultas, also of Winchester.

The mother of the bride wore a costume dress of champagne colored silk with Venise lace trimming the hemline of the coat. Her accessories matched her costume and her flowers were cymbidium orchids. The mother of the bridegroom wore blue lace over taffeta fashioned with bell sleeves. Her accessories were white and her flowers also were cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Janet Lawson Smith was matron of honor and wore mint green silk organza over silk peau. The dress had a flowing floor length train. A matching picture hat was trimmed in white daisies. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies. The bridesmaids were Miss Jeanne Kaye Evans and Miss Connie Coultas who wore identical costumes to that worn by Mrs. Smith.

Judy McLaughlin was the flower girl and wore a full length frock of yellow organza over taffeta trimmed in mint green and white daisies. She carried a basket of white rose petals. Mark Coultas, brother of the groom, was the ring bearer.

Keith Gregory, Dean Kirkpatrick, Dale Dunham and Ron Hayes seated guests.

The bride wore a formal gown of white organza with pearl encrusted lace appliques. A panel of lace at the center front skirt extended to encircle the hemline of the dress. Lace was lavishly used to enhance the detachable train which fell from the shoulder line. The bride's illusion veil was affixed to a forward headpiece of pearls and crystal. She carried a bouquet of white roses and English ivy in a cascade arrangement.

At the reception, held at the Holiday Inn at Jacksonville, Mrs. R. R. Riggs, Mrs. Freida Burmeister, Mrs. John McCarthy, Mrs. Gary Frost, Mrs. Paul Evans, Mrs. Dean Lawson and Mrs. Mark Lovekamp assisted.

Mrs. Coultas graduated from Winchester High School, attended Western Illinois University and Hardin Business College. She is employed in the Lincoln Douglas Savings and Loan Company in Jacksonville. The groom graduated from the same high school and is a student at Illinois College in Jacksonville.

Salem Tea Marks Anniversary Of Lutheran League

Mrs. Earl Boucher, first president of the Central Illinois District Lutheran Women's Missionary League, and former financial secretary and member of the Executive Board of the International Lutheran Women's Missionary League, was the featured speaker at a special tea, commemorating the 25th Anniversary of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League.

The tea was given by the Ladies Aid of Salem Lutheran church, one of the League's society members last Thursday. Society members of the League, which numbers 213,000 throughout the international, are commemorating the anniversary with the theme "My Cup Runneth Over." Mrs. Harold Tomhave and Mrs. Boucher presided at the tea table.

Mrs. Boucher, as one of the first active members of the league, spoke of its historical background and the obstacles encountered in organization. She told of the determination of a handful of Christian women, whose objective were solely mission education, mission inspiration, and mission service, and whose motto was "Serve the Lord With Gladness." She noted these objectives were carried out far beyond expectation and mite boxes, which numbered in millions of dollars, provided distribution of Bibles, building of hospitals and places of worship in many parts of the world.

The International Convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League will be held this year at the Washington Hilton, at Washington, D.C., July 18 to 20.

Mrs. P. J. Davidsmeyer presided at the business meeting. Pastor H. C. Rose conducted the opening service, followed by song with Mrs. R. H. Davidsmeyer, at the piano.

Mrs. Mary Schumacher reported her committee had called upon the sick and shut-ins of the congregation.

Mrs. Thomas Hardwick reported a ward party given at the Illinois State Hospital May 24, by members of the Aid.

Mrs. Davidsmeyer read a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deffner, former residents of Jacksonville, who left this area 10 years ago to accept missionary teaching calls in Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Deffner will be on a 3-month furlough in the U.S. this summer, and will spend much of their time in Rock Island.

Mrs. James L. Perkins

Rayma J. Rhoads Weds. J. L. Perkins At Athensville

ROODHOUSE — The Southern Baptist church at Athensville was the setting for the June third ceremony in which Miss Rayma Jean Rhoads of rural Roodhouse and James L. Perkins of Kirkwood, Missouri, exchanged nuptial vows.

ton performed the ceremony at a candlelight altar. Miss Donna Lane was at the piano and Miss Kathy Rigler was the soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Rhoads, Roodhouse route two, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Perkins of Kirkwood.

The bride's roommate at school, Miss Jane Flynn of Wellsville, Missouri, was maid of honor and her sister, Miss Martha Sue Rhoads, was bridesmaid. Paul Edmiston of St. Louis, Missouri, was best man and Dan Coughlin, Rock Hill, Missouri, was the groomsmen.

Guests were seated by Clifford Roll, High Ridge, Missouri, and Ron Bonnell, Maplewood, Missouri.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of chromspun acetate fashioned with a Cathedral coat with lace appliques on the gown and dress coat. A small pillbox lace headpiece held her long veil of illusion. The bride's costume was fashioned by her mother. She carried a white Bible, belonging to her grandmother, and an arrangement of pink roses and lily of the valley.

The gowns worn by the bride's attendants were also fashioned by Mrs. Rhoads. They were made of pastel pink bonded crepe, full length, and featured lace appliques. Small pillbox headpieces secured full length veils and each carried a single long stemmed pink rosebud.

The bride's mother wore apricot bonded crepe with white accessories. The groom's mother was in poudre blue with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors with Miss Nancy Kramer, Miss Nancy Dillow, Miss Sandy Nettles, Miss Rhonda Parks, Miss Jane Dunaway and Miss Louise Gruver, classmates of the bride, assisting.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will make their home in Brentwood, Missouri.

The bride is a senior student at St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis, Missouri. She graduated from Greenfield High School in 1964. The groom graduated from Lutheran High School in St. Louis and is employed by Sunner Products Co., Maplewood, Missouri.

Among the many guests were Mr. and Mrs. James G. Rhoads of Plainview, Illinois, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Sam McNair and Mr. and Mrs. Don Phillips of Little Rock, Arkansas, cousins of the groom, and others from Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Symphony Society Completes Season

At its June meeting, the board of directors of the Jacksonville Symphony Society made plans for the 1967-68 season of the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra, which has now completed its fourth season of providing live orchestral music for the Jacksonville area.

The annual dinner meeting is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 29. A special "Symphony Auction" to benefit the orchestra has been proposed for Oct. 14 or 21, and plans will be made this summer.

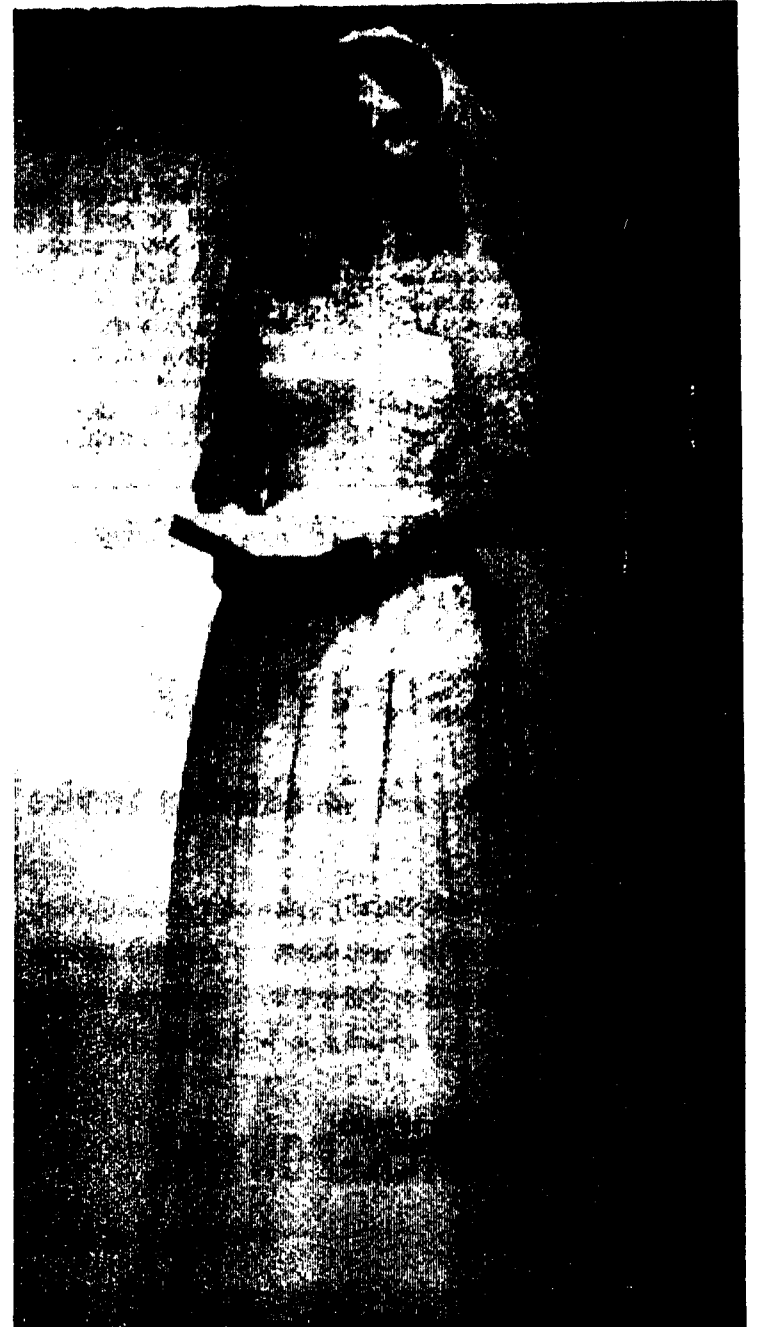

Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, president of the Society, appointed Mrs. W. F. Bailey chairman of the nominations committee which will make its report in September.

Mrs. Richard Henry Saxer

Many At Awbrey Capps Wedding In Pittsfield

PITTSFIELD — Friends and relatives filled the Congregational church here for the afternoon ceremony Sunday, June eleventh, which united in marriage Miss Ada Marie Capps and William David Awbrey.

The Reverend Joe T. Maynard and the Reverend Kent Sanderson officiated. Bursts of glads were used at the palm decked altar. Mrs. Cecil Burrows was at the organ and Mrs. Corman Scanton sang.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell P. Capps and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Awbrey, all of Pittsfield.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Linda Smith, was matron of honor. Miss Carol Awbrey, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Mrs. Gary (Sally) Curtis and Mrs. Twyla Fauver, Danville, were bridesmaids.

Lenny Diorio of Park Ridge served as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Curtis, Charles Pitcher of Omaha, Nebraska, and Ward Riedesel, Clinton, Iowa. Ushers were John Kidwell, Wichita Falls, Texas, and Tom Hurd.

The bride's gown was of white Chantilly lace with long sleeves and a detachable Cathedral train. A lace headpiece held her veil of illusion and she carried a spray of white roses centered with an orchid.

The bride's attendants wore full length dresses of blue chiffon with flowing back panels. Matching pleated ruffles held the short veils of their headpieces.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue silk coat dress with matching accessories and the groom's mother wore an aqua silk costume with corresponding color accessories.

At the reception, held at the Pittsfield Community Center, the following assisted, Mrs. Kathy Zimmerman, Mrs. Susan Hurd, Mrs. Mary Kay Hayden, Mrs. Sharon Cannon and Mrs. Jean Shulman.

The couple spent a week in Nassau and will be residing in Macomb this summer where both will be attending summer classes at Western Illinois University. The bride graduated in 1961 from Pittsfield High School, attended Hannibal-LaGrange College and Eastern Illinois University.

The groom also graduated from Pittsfield High School and received his BA degree in English from Westminster College. He is affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He is English teacher at East Pike High School and is presently working toward his masters degree in speech and dramatics.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding included Mrs. J. Wallons, Appleton, Wisconsin; Mrs. Lee Brown, Branson, Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Beasley, Ellisville, Mo.

Mrs. Pres Miller and daughter Laurel, Racine, Wisconsin; Mrs. Merle Nesbit, Dundee; Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Scanton, Suzanne and Robert, Lexington, Kentucky.

Les Swanson, Oak Lawn; Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Hirsheimer and sons Matt and Lambert Jr., Denver, Colorado; Mrs. Robert Voshall and daughters Sarah and Betsy, Denver, Colo.

Charles Hirsheimer, Chicago; Ben Brunswick, Bloomington; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gardner, Jacksonville; John Droucher, Hannibal, Mo.; Ernie Hodge, Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. William Capps, and Debbie, Alton; Mr. and Mrs. John Purcell, Karen and Carla, Catlin, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Briggs, Danville; Mrs. David Brown, Odell, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Craig, West Milton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dale, East Peoria.

Guests at the wedding from Springfield were Mr. and Mrs. Bates Jex, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell, and Mrs. Les Nimmo and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Awbrey, parents of the groom, entertained relatives, out-of-town guests and friends after the reception at a buffet dinner at their home, 1101 East Washington street.

Diane Bomke And R. H. Saxer Vows At Trinity

Miss Diane Elizabeth Bomke of Jacksonville and Richard Henry Saxer of Springfield were united in marriage Saturday morning, June tenth, at the Trinity Episcopal church in this city. The Reverend Reginald Groff of Springfield performed the double ring ceremony.

The former Miss Bomke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bomke, 10 Laurel Court and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Saxer of Springfield.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin fashioned with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. She carried a white prayer book overlaid with orchids and stephanotis.

Her attendants, Miss Janis Linstromberg, the maid of honor; Miss Linda Blesse and Miss Jane Saxer, sister of the groom, wore floor length dresses of blue eyelette and carried bouquets of blue and white daisies.

The groom's brother, Meredith H. Saxer, served as best man. John Bomke, Jr., brother of the bride and Oscar William Ansell, II, were the groomsmen.

A reception was held in Harris Hall at the church following the 11 o'clock nuptial ceremony.

The mother of the bride wore a blue costume with white accessories and the groom's mother was in pink lace with white accessories. Each wore a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Saxer graduated from Illinois Western University at Macomb June third and the groom will graduate from University of Illinois on June 17th. The couple will reside on the campus of Northwestern University where the groom will attend Seebury Seminary and the bride will teach Spanish at Northbrook school.

Ernest Schlueters Of Beardstown To Celebrate

BEARDSTOWN — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schlueter of 314 West Second street, Beardstown, will celebrate their 50th anniversary with open house Sunday, June 18. Friends and relatives are invited to call from two to four o'clock. The couple requests no gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Schlueter were married June 20, 1917 at the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Arenzville.

They are parents of five daughters and two sons: Mrs. Ernest Greenwood of Fairfield; Mrs. John Junior McCarty of 904 1/2 North Main street; Mrs. Martin Rach of Lansing, Ill.; Mrs. Ronald Fisher of Beardstown; Mrs. John L. Horner of Beardstown and Martin of Lombard, Illinois.

Farnsworth And Hoskins Nuptials At New Canton

NEW CANTON — Miss Vicki Dale Hoskins chose a gown of white silk pique for her June wedding to A. W. Farnsworth IV, which was solemnized the afternoon of the first Sunday of the month at the New Canton Methodist church.

She is the daughter of the Dale Hoskins of New Canton and the groom is the son of Mrs. Margaret Farnsworth of Hull and the late A. W. Farnsworth.

The Reverend Gilbert Fletcher officiated for the double ring ceremony. Baskets of galdioli and daisies were used at the church altar. Ronald Fitzgerald was at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Gary Brown.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was made with A line, skirt and empire bodice. Cotton lace enhanced the bracelet length sleeves and waistline. The chapel train, affixed at the back waist, was appliqued with matching lace. A daisy circlet headpiece secured her tiered illusion veil and she carried a cascade of daisies.

Miss Gaye Lynn Hoskins was her sister's maid of honor. A cousin, Miss Terrie Fisher and Miss Susan Stolle, Miss Harriet Ridenour and Miss Debra Hoffman of Highland, Illinois, were bridesmaids.

The attendants wore gowns in avocado green chiffon over taffeta, full length with circle head-dresses of daisies and baby breath. Each carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby breath tied with green ribbons.

Karon Borrowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Borrowman, was flower girl and wore green, full length, with a white daisy headpiece.

Lonnie Glenn of Hannibal, Missouri was best man. Groomsmen were Steve Gray and Roger Luken of Hull; Charles Ervin, Palmyra, Missouri, and Bob Harbourn of Hannibal.

Ushers were Bill Miles of Glenview, Illinois and Bob Heiser of Hannibal.

Scott Garner, cousin of the groom, was ringbearer.

A reception was held in the cafeteria of the New Canton High School. Assisting were Mrs. Raymond Logel, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Ervin Borrowman, Miss Candy Stratton, Highland, Mrs. Gard Fisher, another aunt of the bride and Miss June Stout, Hannibal, cousin of the bride.

The couple spent their wedding trip in the South, visiting Florida and New Orleans, Louisiana. They will make their home in Canton, Missouri where they will attend Culver-Stockton College. The bride graduated from West Pike High School, attended Missouri State Teachers College two years and completed her junior year at Missouri University in Columbia. The groom, a graduate of the same high school, attended Hannibal-LaGrange College two years.

The bride's parents entertained at a rehearsal dinner the evening before the wedding.

Showers complimenting the bride were given by Mrs. Hazel Gray of Hull, co-hosted by Mrs. Charles Gray, Mrs. Ray Stapleton and Mrs. Judy Chaplin and by her bridesmaids, Miss Debra Hoffman, Harriet Ridenour, Susie Stolle and Terri Fisher.

Guests attended from Quincy, Chicago, Pittsfield, Springfield, Payson, Hull, Kinderhook, Barry, Rockport and Highland, Ill. and Palmyra and Canton, Missouri and Natchez, Mississippi.

Former New Berlin Gal Proving Politics, Petticoats Should Mix

Michigan GOP State Chairman

EDITOR'S NOTE: Michigan Republican State Chairman Elly M. Peterson, a native of New Berlin, Ill., will be the guest speaker at the Midwestern Republican Campaign Management Seminar at Illinois college, Jacksonville, June 23. She will speak at a noon luncheon and is expected to discuss the GOP victories in Michigan in 1966 and two special election triumphs in 1967.

Some years ago in New Berlin, Illinois, a strong-minded young woman decided that petticoats and politics could — and should — mix, contrary to the opinion of many men at that moment.

Today, Elly M. Peterson has proved her point. She has forced the most stubborn male politicians to concede that women and politics go together like Swiss cheese and rye bread.

Further, she has demonstrated that women also are often more effective than men in many areas of the political field.

The daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. C. McMillan of New Berlin, Mrs. Peterson probably is the best-known and most popular woman on today's national political scene. Her influence in the Republican party is felt in every state and there are thousands of Democrats who fervently wish that she had chosen some other walk in life. In 1965, after holding many positions of Republican party leadership — including a term as assistant chairman of the G.O.P. National Committee — Mrs. Peterson was elected by unanimous vote to the state chairmanship of Michigan's Republican party. She is the first woman state chairman in the Republican party's 110-year history.

She also is the only party chairman to have broken a toe stepping into a girdle.

Re-elected Without Opposition Last February, Mrs. Peterson was re-elected for a second term as state chairman without opposition. She will lead her party through another important two-year period, during which Michigan's Republican Governor George Romney is expected to be a leading contender for the G.O.P. presidential nomination in 1968.

"Elly" — as she is known fondly to scores of thousands of Michiganders and others — is intimately acquainted with every phase of politics, including a race for the United States Senate in 1964, when she became the first woman of either major party to be nominated for such office in Michigan. Although she was a victim of the Lyndon Johnson avalanche, she taught her Democrat opposition quite a few lessons and paved the way for a sweeping Republican victory in Michigan last year.

Her greatest political talent, which is recognized by every politician in Michigan, is the art of friendly persuasion and organization. Her years in politics have given her a philosophical outlook toward every aspect of the game except for organization. On that subject she will accept no compromise.

Organizes The Troops "Unless you have the troops, unless you can organize them and get them working right down at the block level," she says, "you just aren't going to win."

Has Mrs. Peterson's zeal for organization paid off?

The results of Michigan's general election last year answer that question.

Elly took over the leadership of her party at a time of exceedingly great disorganization, confusion and uncertainty for its future. The Johnson sweep of 1964 had left Republicans utterly dazed. They had lost control of both houses in the state legislature for the first time in 28 years. Congressional districts that had been Republican for many decades suddenly went Democrat.

Elly M. Peterson

Even the county courthouses saw a mass Republican exodus. Mrs. Peterson's task was further complicated by the internal party dissension created by an ultra-right-wing element that adamantly refused to believe that the voters had rejected extreme conservatism.

But, Mrs. Peterson is somewhat like the bumblebee, which is not supposed to be scientifically able to fly, but since it doesn't know this, it flies anyway. Elly didn't know that she couldn't replace chaos with common sense, so she did it anyway.

Her first year as state chairman was devoted, in a sense, to cleaning up the debris and rebuilding the core of the Republican party. By the end of 1965, she was ready to organize the "troops."

On The Go A highly accomplished speaker, she was often appearing at two and three different locations each day. Her schedule frequently demanded a 100-mile drive from her home in Charlotte, Michigan, to address a breakfast meeting, another 150-mile trip to exercise her gift of persuasion at a luncheon and then another long journey for a dinner that evening.

A sixteen-hour day was the rule rather than the exception in her routine.

During the rare occasions when she had a free Sunday, she would relax at home with her husband, Army Colonel W. Merritt Peterson, cooking a special dish and between stir-

Amvet Auxiliary Special Meeting Tuesday Night

At the June 13th meeting of the Amvet Auxiliary Unit announcement was made that all ring, engaging in telephone conferences with party leaders who had managed to come up with new problems.

Only her closest associates were ever permitted to get a glimpse of her fatigue and moments of depression when the job seemed to be completely hopeless.

But, Elly refused to give up. She fought the party's dissidents with every possible weapon, she served as mother confidant for hundreds of party workers, offering advice and encouragement to all, and through all of this travail, found time to motivate others into organizing, finding top candidates, raising funds and preparing for the 1966 campaigns.

Election night, 1966, found Elly Peterson still driving herself and many friends were sure that she would collapse before the results were known. They were wrong. The same strong-mindedness that made the young woman from New Berlin prove that women and politics could mix now carried her along.

Tables Turned Shortly after midnight, the voting results showed that the Republicans were sweeping the State of Michigan. They had exceeded even Elly Peterson's wildest expectations.

Now the Democrats were in the same state of disarray in which they had left the Republicans in 1964.

Did Elly Peterson relax? The best answer to that probably came from a member of her staff a few days later.

"Elly relax?" he asked. "Not on your life. She's a ball of fire in victory or defeat. Since the election, we've been as busy as we were before, maybe even busier. Right now, she's got a schedule that would knock many men flat on their backs."

"Elly is, of course, the only state chairman who ever broke a toe stepping into a girdle, but she's also the one chairman who can keep everybody else on their toes, broken or not."

members who will help with registration at the State Department convention to be held June 22-25 in Jacksonville, are to meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 20th, at the club.

The June 13th meeting was conducted by the president, Martha Upchurch. Sergeant-at-arms Lucy Stillwell led in the pledge to the flag and the preamble. Acting chaplain Leona Griffin offered prayer.

Katie Laughary received the door prizes and Irene Sanders the regular drawing.

Irene Sanders read minutes and Katie Laughary gave the treasurer's report.

Announcement was made of the submitting by various Auxiliaries of candidates for State Department offices which will be conducted at the Convention mentioned above.

SOS chairman Lucy Stillwell reported as did Martha Upchurch for hospital work. A party was sponsored by the club for veterans at the Jacksonville State Hospital. Child welfare chairman, Leona Griffin, membership chairman Verne Bryant and Fun Nite chairman, Bea Daniels also reported.

It was announced members of the Post had washed the Post kitchen walls and painted the restroom.

The chaplain closed the meet-

Hiatt And Giants Trip Cardinals 3-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jack Hiatt singled home his second run of the game in a two-run third inning that sent the San Francisco Giants to a 3-2 victory over St. Louis Saturday, ending a three-game losing streak.

Hiatt's hit came off reliever Ron Willis, who replaced Steve Carlton after Willie Mays and Jim Davenport walked and Jim Hart singled in the tying run.

Hiatt doubled in a first-inning run after another walk to Mays and a hit by Hart.

The Cardinals, who had taken a 1-0 lead on Curt Flood's two-out homer in the first inning, pulled ahead 2-1 in the second when winner Joe Gibbon hit Tim McCarver with a pitch and McCarver came around on a hit by Alex Johnson and a fielder's choice.

Gibbon developed a sore left shoulder after six innings and Frank Linzy blanked the Cardinals the rest of the way as St. Louis had a three-game winning streak snapped.

Mathews Allows Astros To Split

HOUSTON (AP)—Eddie Mathews led off the last of the ninth inning with the 498th homer of his career, giving Houston a 4-3 victory over Atlanta in the nightcap of their day-night doubleheader Saturday.

The Braves won the first game 3-1 with two runs in the 10th inning.

Mathews' fifth homer of the season came against reliever Bob Bruce, the pitcher the Braves received for him in a trade last winter.

The Braves had tied the game in the top half of the inning with three runs, the last two on pinch hitter Mike de la Hoz's two-out homer. That blow knocked out Dave Giusti, who entered the ninth with a two-hit shutout.

Denis Menke doubled for the Braves with one out in the ninth and Wood Woodward singled him home with two out before de la Hoz connected for his second homer of the season.

Mack Jones' sacrifice fly following a wild pitch scored the first of two 10th inning runs that lifted the Braves to their fourth straight victory in the day game. Menke singled in the second.

Time Mark Broken As A's Gain Split

DETROIT (AP)—Rookie Dave Duncan smashed a leadoff home run in the 19th inning lifting Kansas City to a 6-5 victory in the second game of a record-breaking doubleheader against the Detroit Tigers Saturday.

The Tigers won the opener 7-6 on a bases-loaded single by pinch hitter Bill Heath with two out in the ninth inninr.

The doubleheader lasted nine hours, five minutes, eclipsing the American League record of 18:04 set in a 24 inning doubleheader between Cleveland and Kansas City in 1965. The major league mark of 9:52 was set by San Francisco and New York in 1964 over 32 innings.

The first game lasted 3 hours, 25 minutes and the nightcap 5:40.

Duncan had entered the game in the top of the 19th to catch reliever Bill Edgerton, the A's sixth pitcher. His leadoff shot against Mike Marshall was his third home run.

Both teams scored in the 15th inning of the nightcap, the A's on two errors by Jerry Lumpe and the Tigers on Mickey Stanley's home run.

THE AMATEUR'S DAY of glory came again Saturday in the United States Open Golf Tournament when Marty Fleckman, a 23-year-old Texan, held a one stroke lead over golf's 'Big Three': Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper. Fleckman led the first day, fell back Friday but charged to the front again Saturday over the Baltusrol course in New Jersey. (NEA Telephoto)

Epstein: Odd Bird But Successful One

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Rookies don't worry about public relations.

Mike Epstein does. Rookies don't battle the hierarchy of baseball — and Mike Epstein does — and did.

Rookies, and certainly not regulars, don't draw people to watch the Washington Senators play baseball.

Mike Epstein does. Twenty-four-year-old Mike Epstein is the muscular former fullback from the University of California who hits baseballs like a John Tunis hero: far.

At Rochester last year, he did it often. He was minor league player of the year. The Baltimore Orioles owned him, brought him to spring training, then decided to send him out because another large young man, one John (Boog) Powell, also hit baseballs — and had been hitting them for five years — like a John Tunis hero.

Mike Epstein had given me the chance and I played myself off the club. I would have gone back to Rochester. But they didn't even give me the chance. I didn't think it was right to just send me out like that.

"If Baltimore had given me the chance and I played myself off the club. I would have gone back to Rochester. But they didn't even give me the chance. I didn't think it was right to just send me out like that."

Mike had hoped to return to Yankee Stadium under different circumstances: without controversy and with cheers from the stands. Instead he got boos. It hurt.

Mike grew up a few blocks from Yankee Stadium. Like all the other kids from the neighborhood, he hung around after the Yankee games for a glimpse of, and maybe an autograph from, the great Mantle or the great Ford. Instead he was repulsed by the great men who passed up the little urchins as if they were nothing but lamp-posts. The memory lingers.

"Any time," he announced, "there's an autograph to be signed, I'll stay. If I have to stay an hour. I couldn't understand when the Yankees and the players on other teams didn't sign."

There is great pressure on the rookie first baseman, but he hopes and feels he will overcome it with his bat, taking the Senators with him to the top.

"A certain kind of ballplayer," he said, "can have a catalytic effect and spark a ball club."

"I don't say I'm a Frank Robinson. Just a Mike Epstein. That may do."

Epstein, who also is something of an intellectual, or as close to an intellectual as there is in baseball, decided that he would rely on historical precedent and not report to Rochester. Nothing against Rochester, just something about believing in a document called

RECORD-EQUALLING BASS
NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A 73-pound striped bass boated Friday by Charles Cinto, 38, of Mansfield, Mass., equaled the world record set Aug. 17, 1913, by Charles B. Church.

Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., was extended to four sets before beating Francisco Guzman 6-2, 2-6, 8-4, 6-4 in the opening singles match.

The second singles match between Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., and Miguel Olvera was suspended after three sets because of a 6 p.m. local time curfew.

Olvera was leading two sets to one, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. The match will be completed Sunday before the start of the doubles.

On the Sox, Walt says: "People ask if we can go all the way this year and there's only one thing I can say. If we don't win, we're going to be so close that a lot of people are going to think we did win. You can't get any closer than that."

For all his hustle, Williams, who never hit below .300 in the minors, finds himself well off that pace with the Sox. He says he isn't worried.

"If I play every day," Williams says confidently, "I can hit .300 or better. As a matter of fact, I'll be very disappointed if I hit below .300 and we don't win the pennant."

"For a guy without much neck, that's really sticking it out."

WEIGHTY PROBLEMS don't bother New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath. Namath, who had an operation on his right knee recently, strengthens it by lifting weights.

Fleckman Regains Lead In U.S. Open

Golf's Big Three One Stroke Back

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Marty Fleckman, a shy, 23-year-old amateur from Port Arthur, Tex., came on with a rush while the game's big three played each other like wary cats and grabbed a one-stroke lead over Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper Saturday in the third round of the National Open Golf Championship.

It was a shocker. Going three shots over par on the first two holes, the slender good looking Walker Cup alternate harnessed his game in a brilliant finish, knocking in six birdies for a one-under-par 69 and a 54-hole score of 209.

He was the only man in the elite field under par for three trips over the sweltering, 7,015 yard Baltusrol course, which plays to a par 70.

The defending champion, Casper, playing it cool and cozy, surged to a three-stroke lead at one stage but ran into a rash of three straight bogeys starting at the 15th hole and dragged home with a 71 to 210.

He was tied at that figure, even par, with Palmer and Nicklaus, the two heavyweights of golf, who were paired with each other in a dream bracketing at the end of the 66-man line-up.

Palmer, his face showing grim determination, bogeyed the first hole and knocked his tee shot in the water at the short fourth. He didn't get a birdie until the 18th, finishing with a 73.

Nicklaus, the Golden Giant who has been harassed by a nagging slump, went 16 holes also without a birdie but finished with a pair of fours on the back breaking par 5 17th and 18th for a 72.

Tied for fifth, and still very much in contention with 211s, were rookie pro Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., 71; Miller Barber, 69; Don January, 70; and Gardner Dickinson, 68.

Fleckman is seeking to become the first amateur to win the open since Johnny Goodman did it in 1933, and he may have the shots and temperament to do the trick.

Starts Badly
Fleckman started with a bogey at the first, where he drove into the rough, and took a double bogey at the second, where his tee shot went into the rough and his second flew 20 yards over the green, landing in some twigs and leaves.

He barely was able to move the ball. He fluffed it only 15 feet, finally reached the green and two-putted.

"It beat the heck out of me," he said. "I said, 'Let's get back in there, and I did.'"

Casper got a bogey at the second.

USC's Lutz Wins National Title

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Powerful Bob Lutz of the University of Southern California turned back a game challenge by Jaime Fillol of the University of Miami, (Fla.), and won the National Collegiate Tennis Singles Championship Saturday 6-0, 6-0, 8-10, 2-6, -2.

Fillol, who injured his leg while exercising Friday night, didn't win a game as Lutz swept the first two sets.

The stocky sophomore with the big backcourt game got in front with booming backhand and passing shots which Fillol was unable to touch.

Fillol, a junior from Santiago, Chile, had passed up a chance to represent Chile in Davis Cup Zone competition last week.

CLARK RESETS MARK
FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (AP) — Scotland's Jim Clark broke his own unofficial lap record at the Belgian Grand Prix track Saturday, speeding around the 8.75-mile circuit at an average of 151.231 miles per hour.

Working out in his Lotus Ford for Sunday's Grand Prix auto race, Clark completed one lap in 3 minutes, 28.1 seconds. He set the unofficial record just 24 hours before when he averaged 150.145 m.p.h.

BUY SAVINGS BONDS

Palmer bogeyed the first hole when he pitched over the green and took a double bogey 5 on the fourth hole when he drew his tee shot too fine and dumped in the water. It was a daring but reckless shot.

He saved a par on the seventh with a magnificent chip and played par through to the 14th where he bogeyed again by missing a five-foot putt. His closing birdie came on a 12-foot putt.

Nicklaus, who called his iron play sloppy and didn't putt well, bogeyed the second hole, three-putting from eight feet; the tough sixth, hitting into the rough and pitching short; the 10th, pitching over the green, and the 15th, three-putting from 30 feet.

Palmer and Nicklaus apparently made the mistake of playing each other instead of the course and the results were costly. They slugged away like a pair of heavyweights.

Grambling College, noted for producing football players, has begun to switch emphasis to baseball now that Tommie Agee is established as the heavy hitter of the Chicago White Sox.

Heavy hitter may be a misnomer, since Tommie is struggling to maintain his rookie pace of '66 when he led the Sox in batting (.273), home runs and runs batted in (though he's the team's leader in the latter two categories again).

Agee actually entered Grambling on a football scholarship, in the same era as Ernie Ladd (Houston Oilers), Buck Buchanan (KC Chiefs), Roosevelt Taylor (Chicago Bears) and Willie Brown (Denver Broncos), but soon switched his talents to hitting baseballs.

The White Sox may be the most hitless wonders since the same Chicago team of 1906. They depend on the same GOGO which won a Chisox pennant in '59 because what other team can say its best southpaw pitcher and best lefthand pinch hitter are one and the same—Gary Peters? Eddie Stanky, the combative little manager, shifts his punches lineup to get the maximum out of a batting order which has no 300 hitters.

"There are no blubberguts on this club," notes Agee, who's one of the speedboys.

Mike Epstein sums up the stand which precipitated the trade from the Orioles to the Senators: "Any time you feel in your heart you're doing the right thing, there can be no cause to look back in retrospect and say, 'I made a mistake.'"

Gary Player bridges when anybody insinuates there's any luck to his golf success. "I was playing in Texas one day," Gary remembered, "and I held three bunker shots. This gentleman said to me, 'Gee, you're a lucky bunker player, aren't you?' ... and I said, 'Yeah, the harder I practice, the luckier I get.' ... Player's brother-in-law, pro Bob Verwey, sliced Gary into a 25-yard sprint race against Lance Alworth, the fleet flanker of the San Diego Chargers who has been clocked in a 9.5 hundred. "The name," says Player, "meant nothing to me." Gary lost by less than a yard.

The sixth annual Comedians' Golf Classic at the Mill River Club on Long Island shapes up as a laugh a minute — not because there's anything funny in watching Doug Sanders, Dave Marr and Bob Rosburg stroke a ball, but in digesting the golf form of Rocky Graziano, Sandy Koufax and Bobby Hull, among others.

Maybe you never heard of Sy Block, but he's trying to correct the situation. Sy once had the proverbial cup of coffee with the Chicago Cubs as a third baseman, then turned to insurance and cashed in as a salesman. So recently he rented a huge billboard on Duffy's Square at 46th Street and Broadway overlooking Manhattan, plastered it with his profile and wrote simply, "Your life is in my hands." For the privilege, he pays $8,000 a month, contracted for five months, which multiplies out to $40,000 for getting.

Walt Williams

It's generally believed that Williams, who got started with the Houston organization, was tagged with his No-Neck handle by Astro catcher John Bateman.

But Walt says the credit (or perhaps the word should be discredit, in this case) should go to George Kirksey, who played a large role in bringing big league ball to Houston.

"Kirksey walked into my room one day," Williams recalls, "and said, 'My, that's a strange-looking guy. He hasn't got any neck.' I've been stuck with it ever since."

Trial Opens Monday

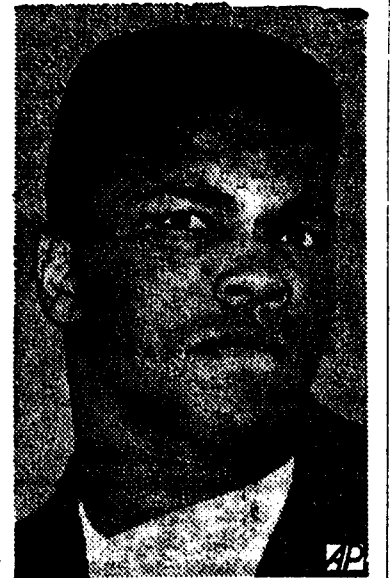

Clay Faces Biggest Fight Of His Life

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay, unbeaten in the ring, begins the biggest fight of his life Monday when he goes on trial in federal court charged with violating the universal Military Training and Service Act.

Conviction could mean five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Both defense and prosecution predict a brief trial.

The heavyweight champion claims he is a Black Muslim minister and should be exempt from the draft. He also contends draft boards are stacked with white members and therefore discriminate against Negroes.

Clay, who has won 29 straight fights including 23 by knockouts, was stripped of his heavyweight crown by domestic groups moments after he refused to take the oath as a draftee last April 28.

Ten days later he was indicted by a federal grand jury. He entered a plea of innocent and was released on $5,000 bond.

Clay, a descendant of a runaway Kentucky slave, prefers to be known by his Black Muslim name of "Muhammad Ali." He says he preaches 90 per cent of the time and boxes 10 per cent.

"If justice prevails, if my constitutional rights are upheld, I will be forced to go neither to the Army nor to jail," Clay said when he refused to be inducted.

"In the end I am confident that justice will come my way for the truth must eventually prevail."

A jury will hear the evidence in U.S. Dist. Judge Joe M. Ingram's courtroom which is expected to be filled to capacity.

The defense and prosecution say the primary issues the jury must decide are whether a draft board was justified in classifying Clay I-A or should it have exempted him from military service, thus recognizing his claim to being a true Muslim minister.

Tony Has No Trouble Communicating At Bat

By SANDY PADWEE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CINCINNATI — (NEA) — The radio from Houston or Miami and the mail serve as the only communication between Tony Perez and his family in Cuba.

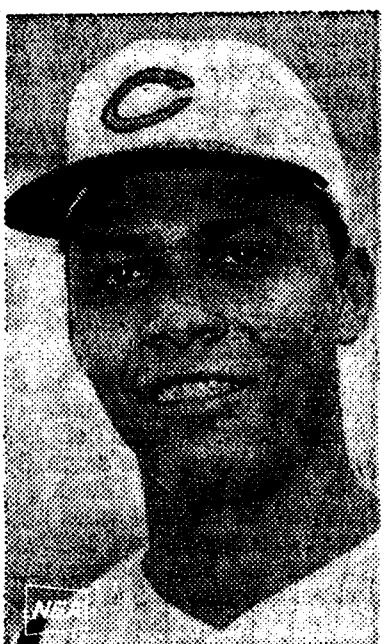

It has been four years since Tony, the third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, has seen the family (mother, father, two brothers, three sisters). The last time he went back, in 1963, it took him two months to get out.

"But they can follow my career," Tony said. "I got a letter the other day from my father. They heard a game we played against Houston. They know I'm having a good season so far and are happy for me."

Sammy Ellis, one of the Reds' pitchers, says at this point of the season, Perez is the most valuable player in the National League.

Cincinnati is leading the league and has led most of the year. Perez, who endured two long seasons on the bench, is second in the league in RBI and first in driving in the tying and winning runs. (During the first two months, Tony led the club in home runs, with 13, and RBI. His average was comfortably above the .300 level.)

Tony started the season by winning the first base job from Lee May and Gordy Coleman. Then when Deron Johnson pulled a muscle, he went to third base and has been there since. Johnson moved to first.

Tony Perez

In San Diego in 1964, Tony won the Pacific Coast League's Most Valuable Player award when he played third base.

"I don't care where I play, though," Tony said. "At least I'm playing. On this team, that isn't so easy. I learned that the last two years."

"I would sit on the bench for a week at a time and my timing would go bad. Then I'd get a chance and I'd try so hard I couldn't do anything right."

"I felt bad but there were others going through the same thing. I think everyone on the Cincinnati bench could start anywhere else in this league."

In 1965, appearing in 104 games, many as a pinchhitter, Tony showed signs of being the reliable clutch hitter he is today. He hit .260 and had 12 home runs in 281 at bat. "He won about five games for me," Ellis remembers. "And I think they were with home runs." Last year, Tony hit .265.

As usual, he took off after the season to play winter ball in Puerto Rico where he won the league's batting championship. His performance, at third and first had the scouts from major league teams sending urgent cables to the home office addressing them to acquire Perez in a trade.

The Reds turned down all the offers.

Tony had been in the Cincinnati system since 1960 when he was signed by the team's Cuban scout. At the time, he was working with his father at a sugar mill in Ciego de Avila in Camaguey Province. "I was playing for the team sponsored by the sugar mill," Tony said.

Cincinnati sent him to Geneva of the New York-Pennsylvania League. "It was a bad time for me," Tony recalls. "I couldn't speak any English and I had trouble understanding the manager sometimes. I was pretty lonesome so I went to the movies a lot and that helped me to learn the language."

Now he speaks the language quite well. But even before, there wasn't much the manager had to tell Tony except what time the bus left or where the team was staying.

On the field, his bat didn't need any English lessons.

Penn Captures Rowing Title

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Pennsylvania's veteran varsity crew, rowing smoothly and powerfully, grabbed the lead near the start Saturday and out-fueled defending champion Wisconsin to capture the Intercollegiate Rowing Association championships by two lengths.

The victory for Joe Burk's strapping sweepstrikers was the first IRA title for a Quaker crew since 1900.

Cornell was third in the 16-boat race on Onondaga lake. Penn, rowing at a steady, distance-eating 33 strokes a minute moved into the lead one mile from the start and steadily pulled ahead the rest of the way. Penn's time was 16:13.9.

Navy grabbed the lead at the start of the gruelling, three mile race, run in bright sunshine, smooth waters and temperatures in the 80s and led until the one-mile mark, when the Quakers streaked into the lead.

Wisconsin's badgers stayed with the leaders until Penn opened water with a mile to go and sprinted home at 36 strokes a minute.

Williams, Horlen Spark 1-0 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Walt Williams' ground-rule double into the left field corner broke a scoreless pitching duel between unbeaten Joel Horlen and Fritz Peterson Saturday and gave the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees.

Williams' smash, which a fan intercepted at the box seat railing, scored Al Weis, who had beaten out an infield single, advanced to second on Charlie

Wagner's Blast Lifts Cleveland To 7-4 Triumph

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leon Wagner's three-run homer capped a four-run seventh inning that powered the Cleveland Indians to a 7-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday night in a game that started an hour late because of rain.

Wagner's blast over the right center field fence was his 10th. It came after the Indians broke a 3-3 tie when Lee Maye singled to score Pedro Gonzalez, who led off with a bunt single and advanced to third on Larry Brown's hit.

Harmon Killebrew's bases-empty homer, his 18th, gave the Indians a 4-3 lead in the second when Rich Rollins reached safely on an error by Max Alvis, and eventually scored on Frank Kostro's single.

The Indians tied the score in the second on Brown's two-run double following a single by Alvis and a walk to Joe Azcue. They went ahead in the third when Maye tripled and Hinton singled.

Minnesota pulled even in the fourth when Bob Allison walked, went to third on a single by Rollins and scored as Zoilo Versalles hit into a double play.

Drafke To Shoot For 8th State Amateur Title

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Lois Drafke will defend her seventh state title when the 34th Illinois Women's State Amateur Invitational golf tournament starts Monday at Illini county Club.

The Illinois Junior State Amateur Invitational open to girls 17 or younger, will run concurrently with the five-day women's meet.

Miss Drafke, 28-year-old Brunette from Downers Grove, who was titlist a year ago at Pekin, first captured the championship in 1953.

Challengers include Miss Doris Phillips of Belleville, a two-time winner of the match play tournament, and Mrs. Charles Ryan, medalist last year at Pekin.

Miss Drafke and Mrs. Ryan slated to tee off Monday in the first threesome. Miss Phillips is in the second trio.

The qualifying round of 18 holes Monday will provide the 16 lowest scorers for entry in the match play Tuesday in the championship flight.

After Tuesday's first round match play, the second and third rounds Wednesday and Thursday will each have a consolation bracket.

A 36-hole championship final match Friday ends the tourney.

Lonborg Notches 8th Win As Sox Tip Senators 5-1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro's home run and Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double backed the five-hit pitching of Jim Lonborg Saturday as the Boston Red Sox defeated Washington 5-1.

Conigliaro led off the second inning against loser Barry Moore with his sixth homer. Yastrzemski's third-inning double, following two-out singles by Reggie Smith and Mike An-

Pair Of Homers Triggers Orioles Over Angels, 7-5

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Robinson and Curt Blefary socked homers, triggering the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-5 victory over California Saturday night.

The victory ended a five-game losing streak for the Orioles and snapped the Angels' winning string at five.

Robinson's 20th homer capped a three-run rally in the first inning off loser George Brunet, 3-10. Blefary hit his 12th homer as the first batter to face reliever Pete Cimino in the seventh.

Winner Steve Barber allowed only two hits but was replaced by Moe Drabowsky in the sixth when California scored two runs on three walks, an infield out and a single by Woodie Held.

Before departing, Barber accounted for two runs with a bases-loaded single — his second hit of the season.

TIES WORLD MARK

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Enrique Figueroa tied the world record for the 100-meter dash Saturday, clocking 10 seconds flat in an international track and field contest.

There was a following wind of 4.02 miles an hour.

Figueroa is the sixth man to tie the world record established by Armin Hary of West Germany in 1960. The others are Harry Jerome of Canada, Horatio Esteves of Venezuela, Bob Hayes, Jim Hines and Willy Turner, all of the United States.

Nye And Chicago Blast Mets, 9-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Rich Nye cut down New York on five hits while Billy Williams and Ted Savage led a 10-hit Chicago attack with home runs as the Cubs trounced the Mets 9-1 Saturday.

Nye, 5-3, yielded a run in the second inning on a double by Tommy Davis and a single by Ron Swoboda, but took command the rest of the way.

Williams unloaded his 11th homer in the first inning after Don Kessinger walked. Savage connected for his third homer with none on in the fourth.

Pirates Rip Bunning For 6-5 Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates raked Jim Bunning for six runs and nine hits in the first six innings, then held off Philadelphia's late rally for a 6-5 victory over the Phillies Saturday.

Matty Alou and Andre Rodgers led the Pirates' attack against Bunning, 6-7, and two successors. Alou slapped out four hits and drove in two runs while Rodgers touched off a two-run second-inning burst with a single, then led off the fourth with his first homer of the season.

The Phillies held to one run — Gene Oliver's homer — and two hits by Dennis Ribant through the first five innings, chased the Pirate starter in the sixth when Johnny Briggs doubled home a run.

But Pete Mikkelsen worked out of a bases-loaded jam and Roy Face checked a two-run rally in the eighth, preserving Ribant's third victory in six decisions.

Cisne And Grant In State Meet

Jim Cisne and Fred Grant will represent Jacksonville in the 37th annual Illinois State Amateur Golf Tournament this week.

The meet, sponsored by the Chicago District Golf Association, will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Short Hills Country Club in East Moline. A practice round will be played Monday.

Cisne, a 1967 JHS graduate, played in the tournament last year, making the final cut and finishing 24th in the standings.

ANOTHER RECORD for Mickey Mantle, the magnificent Yankee, went into the books when he played in his 2,166th game June 14, appearing as a pinch-hitter, to top old team mark (printed on bat) held by Lou Gehrig.

Shaving Strokes

By FRANK BEARD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The wood club is the power club in your bag. It is the club with which you obtain your greatest distance. However, therein lies the cause for the greatest percentage of troubles with wood shots.

We will go into these problems later one by one. Let's say for now that although the wood will give you more power and distance than your iron clubs, an conscious attempt to gain more power than is "built into the wood" will only result in trouble.

Contrary to the irons, the woods are played much farther forward in your stance and are hit with an ascending blow during the swing.

The wood has a much longer shaft than an iron, thus resulting in the forward positioning of the ball. And, of course, this in itself will require an ascending or upward arc at impact. You never attempt to put any backspin on a wood shot. These shots were made for greater distance and not pinpoint accuracy.

I wouldn't want to say that accuracy is not of primary importance with wood shots. However, where the target with an iron is a 4 1/2-inch cup, the land ing area for a wood is generally a big fairway or somewhere on the green.

The key to wood shots is good positioning and a free and easy swing with very little effort. The mass of the head and the increased length of the shaft will do all of the work for you.

Boccabella's RBI Wins For Cubs, 4-3

Oliva Hurt Hitting Wall

TONY OLIVA

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tony Oliva, Minnesota's two-time batting champion, was carried off the field unconscious Friday night after he crashed into the right field wall trying to catch Joe Azcue's fly ball.

Oliva struck the wall chasing Azcue's double in the seventh inning of the game against Cleveland.

He was taken to Shaker Medical Center.

Hinton's Single In 10th Inning Sinks Twins, 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chuck Hinton's 10th-inning single scored Larry Brown with the winning run as the Cleveland Indians edged Minnesota 2-1 Friday night.

Brown had opened the 10th with a single and after winning pitcher Luis Tiant struck out, Max Alvis beat out a hit to deep short. That set the stage for Hinton's winning blow.

The Twins kicked Tiant for a run in the sixth on rookie Rod Carew's fourth home run.

Cleveland tied it in the seventh on pinch hitter Don Demeter's single. Rocky Colavito had opened the inning with a single and went to third on Joe Azcue's double before scoring on Demeter's hit.

Senators Sweep Two From Bosox By 1-0 And 4-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ken McMullen beat the throw to the plate on Paul Casanova's bases-loaded grand slam, capping a four-run rally in the ninth inning that lifted the Washington Senators past Boston 4-3 for a sweep of their doubleheader Friday night.

Bob Priddy, making his first American League start, pitched seven scoreless innings and drove in the game's only run with a squeeze bunt as the Senators took the opener 1-0.

Boston's Darrell Anderson had a two-hitter going into the ninth inning of the nightcap, but Ed Stroud's double, Fred Valentine's single and a run-scoring infield hit by Frank Howard drove him from the mound.

Dennis Bennett got Mike Epstein on a pop-up, but McMullen singled another runner against John Wyatt, who then walked pinch hitter Dick Nen, filling the bases.

Hank Allen, running for Howard, scored the tying run on Joe Foy's throwing error. Casanova, hitting for pitcher Casey Cox, then bounced to first baseman George Scott, whose throw to the plate was too late to catch McMullen.

Held Leads Angels To Double Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — Woodie Held, traded by Baltimore Thursday, beat the Orioles 2-1 with a ninth-inning homer and then launched a 5-3 nightcap victory with a two-run blast as the California Angels swept a doubleheader Friday night.

The sweep extended the Angels' winning streak to five games and gave them 10 victories in their last 11 starts. The Orioles have lost five in a row.

Held, a 35-year-old utilityman with Baltimore, entered the first game as a second-inning replacement for shortstop Jim Fregosi, who suffered a muscle spasm in his back.

Held hit his last 22 times at bat with the Orioles. He hit his second 1967 homer off Pete Richert as the leadoff batter in the ninth.

The score had been tied 1-1 since the second inning, when Bubba Morton doubled for California and scored on a single by Bob Rodgers.

Held hit another homer off loser Bill Dillman in the third inning of the nightcap and Jose Cardenal capped a three-run fourth inning rally with another two-run homer.

USAC Sprints Scheduled At Granite City

GRANITE CITY — Several Indianapolis 500 drivers have inked entries for the Don Branson-Dale Mueser Memorial sprint car races set for the Tri-City Speedway in Granite City Saturday night, June 24.

This date will mark the first USAC sprint car race ever held at the speedway plant. Drivers entered for the event this year include Carl Williams, 22nd at Indy this year, Bub Tinglestad, 14th, Larry Dickson, 15th and Arnie Knepper, 22nd.

Other drivers entered were Spaulding, Chuck Engel, Norm Brown, Bill Puterbaugh, Don Thomas, Johnny Rutherford.

Also entered is Greg Weld, currently second in the national point standings. Weld will be joining Bruce Waldrop of California in driving the team cars of Dr. Ward Dunsteth of Jacksonville. Weld came in first and second in a double feature program last Sunday at Terre Haute, Ind.

The Dunsteth team will leave immediately after the Granite City race to compete the following day, June 25, at New Bremen, Ohio, where eight veterans of the 500 have filed their entries.

The sprint inaugural that day will mark the end of 40 years of dirt track racing at the New Bremen plant. A field of 50 is expected to try the new half-mile paved oval.

MATSON TAKES FIRST WITH 67.9 HEAVE

PROVO, Utah (AP) — World champion Randy Matson of Texas A&M won the collegiate shot put title Friday night, easily beating Oregon's Neal Steinhauer in another head-to-head duel in the NCAA Track and Field Championship.

Matson, leading the competition all the way, set an NCAA meet record with a heave of 67-9 1/4. Steinhauer, the world's second best shotputter, could do no better than 64-2 and fouled on his last throw. The two giants are finished 1-2 in last year's meet.

Earlier in the evening, Rhode Island's Bob Narcessian whirled the hammer 197-1/2 to claim the title in that sparsely entered event.

Home runs—California, Held (3), Cardenal (3). Baltimore, F. Robinson (19).

Atlanta Shades Houston, 9-8, In 10th Inning

HOUSTON (AP) — Sonny Jackson's two-base error helped Atlanta push across an unearned run in the 10th inning as the Braves nipped Houston 9-8 Friday night.

Hank Aaron, opening the 10th, reached second when Jackson booted his grounder. He went to third on Felipe Alou's fly ball and then came across on a ground ball.

The Astros had tied the score in the ninth on Rusty Staub's two-out single. Julio Gotay, who had singled, moved to second on a sacrifice and scooted home on Staub's hit.

Jimmy Wynn led the Astros' comeback with a single and home run. The homer, his 15th of the season, was his seventh in eight nights and fourth in the last two games.

Allen Sparks Phillies To 5-3 Edge Over Bucs

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rich Allen slammed a triple and home run Friday night, leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Richie Allen

Allen tripled home a run in the first inning and scored on a sacrifice fly. In the fifth, he smashed a home run—his eighth—over the left field roof. The third baseman has 13 hits in his last 27 at bats.

The Phillies made it 4-0, knocking out Pittsburgh starter Billy O'Dell in the fourth when Gene Oliver doubled and scored on Johnny Callison's triple. Callison came home on a sacrifice.

Larry Jackson held the Pirates in check until the seventh when singles by Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell and a throwing error by shortstop Gary Renteria accounted for a run. Clemente singled in the eighth driving in Matty Alou who had doubled and Jerry May's ninth inning single produced another.

Pittsburgh 000 011—3 8 0

AAU Expansion Meet Postponed

CHICAGO (AP) — An expansion meeting of the National AAU Basketball League scheduled for Saturday has been postponed one week, a league spokesman said Friday.

At the same time it was disclosed that the Chicago Jambassadors are dropping out of the current four-club loop which also includes Phillips of Bartlesville, Ok., Akron and Cleveland.

Jambaco sponsor Jack Mathis, Chicago advertising executive, said he would not floor a club next season because of friction between the Phillips and the Saints. He did not elaborate.

It appears the league will have five clubs next season with two new Illinois entries, from Rockford and Macomb. Two groups from Dayton also are bidding for membership, but the Ohio City is said to be a doubtful entry for the coming season.

Over the past 10 years, the Jambaco Saints had a 318-79 record and last fall won top honors in the Continental Basketball Tournament in Argentina.

MOSPORTT, Ont. (AP) — Mario Andretti, the driving star from Nazareth, Pa., hit the wall in a practice lap Friday but walked away unhurt from his badly damaged Ford.

Andretti and other leading international drivers are entered in Saturday's Indy 200 trophy race. Indianapolis-type cars will compete over a twisting, hilly 2 1/2 mile road course.

JOCKEY CAUGHT SPEEDING

CINCINNATI (AP)—A jockey at River Downs race track near here was convicted Friday of speeding.

When Elwood Eades, 25, Covington, Ky., was fined $25 and costs and had his driving rights suspended for 30 days by Judge Clarence Denning, he asked the judge how he was going to get to work at the racetrack.

"Get a horse," Judge Denning replied.

CLARK SETS RECORD

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (AP)—Jim Clark of Scotland, working out for Sunday's Belgian Grand Prix auto race, set an unofficial lap record of 150.145 miles per hour Friday in a Lotus Formula One car.

Sons Follow Fathers To Top Echelon

One of these upcoming years baseball will have a universal Father's Day and the sons of former major league players will be honored with their dads.

In the majors this year there are almost enough sons of former players to form a team. The list is growing.

One of the outstanding young sons is Joe Coleman, a rookie of 20 who pitches for the Washington Senators. His dad, Joseph Patrick Coleman, who owns a sporting goods store in Natick, Mass., compiled a 52-76 pitching record between 1942-55.

Papa Joe was with the Philadelphia Athletics eight seasons, with Baltimore two and finished with Detroit in 1955. He was 24 when he won his first game.

A Winner at 18

Young Joe is doing much better. In 1965 at 18 he won his first start, a four-hitter against Kansas City. He won and finished his first three starts. This spring, Joe turned in one of his best efforts against the California Angels to make his 1967 record 3-3.

He fanned 10 Angels in winning a 6-3 decision on May 31. It was his second complete game of the year.

Mel Queen, who broke in with Cincinnati as a 1964 outfielder, now is one of the Reds starting pitchers. In fact, Mel, at 25, is one of the National League stars. He won five of his first six decisions this spring, fanned 41 in 41 innings and compiled a sparkling 1.74 earned run record.

Dad Also Pitched

His dad, Melvin Joseph Queen, broke in as a 1942 Yankee pitcher at 24, won eight games in four seasons and was traded to Pittsburgh where he won 19 games in five seasons. His career record was 27-40.

Lew Krausse, Jr., 24, with the Kansas City Athletics, is another pitcher of a pitching father. His dad, who now scouts for the As, helped his son get a $125,000 bonus from owner Charley Finley.

Papa Lew won five of six decisions between 1931-32 with the old Philadelphia Athletics. Young Lew won two games with the As when he was 18 in 1961, spent the next four years in the minors.

Last year Lew compiled a 14-9 record with a 2.98 ERA. This spring he lost his first four decisions before winning 4-3 against Boston on May 9. More recently he has been a relief pitcher for Kansas City.

Other big league sons are left fielder Tom Tresh and first baseman Mike Hegan of the Yankees, infielder Hal Lanier of the San Francisco Giants catcher Doug Camilli of the Washington Senators and catcher Jimmy Campanis of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Dad Still Catches

Tom Tresh, a Yankee regular since 1962, lost his dad Mike last winter. Mike Tresh was a fine catcher, working 989 games with the Cleveland White Sox and 38 with the Chicago Indians.

Though Mike Hegan hit only 265 at Toledo last year the Yankees have hopes for this 24-year-old first baseman. His dad, Jim, the Yankee bullpen coach, played 1,666 major league games, most of them with Cleveland. He got in two World Series and in two All-Star games. Jim was a fine catcher but hit only 228 collectively.

Hal Lanier, 24-year-old native of Denton, N.C., has been a Giant regular since 1964. His dad, Max, won 17 games for the 1944 St. Louis Cardinals with whom he pitched 12 years, with a jump to the Mexican League in 1947. He also worked for the New York Giants and ended with the St. Louis Browns in 1953. His career record was 108-82.

Southpaw Max beat the Yankees in the '42 World Series and won the deciding game of the '44 classic by three-hitting the St. Louis Browns.

Doug Camilli, 30, the son of former Brooklyn Dodger slugger Dolph, broke in as a 1960 Los Angeles Dodger catcher and now sees limited duty with the Senators.

His dad played 1,490 big league games with the Dodgers, Cubs, Phils and Red Sox. Dolph, now a scout, hit .277 and in 1941 led the National League in homers with 34 and in runs batted in with 120.

Jimmy Campanis, 23, has already outthundered his dad, Alex Campanis, Dodger scouting director. The younger catcher hit No. 1 as a pinch hitter on May 13.

Alex, famous for having obtained Sandy Koufax out of the University of Cincinnati, played second base in seven games for the 1943 Dodgers. He hit only .100 and veterans always kid Alex the Greek that he played because "somebody got hurt."

It's Dad Who Visits

It used to be that a son would visit his dad on Father's Day but when you're in the big leagues it's the father who visits the son.

Father's Day has a special meaning for Jim Bunning of the Phillies. Three years ago he pitched his perfect game against the Mets. It was Father's Day and he got the following day off.

FEATURED IN FOX HUNTERS MAGAZINE—Jess Wight of 903 Doolin is featured in a cover story of this month's "The Red Ranger and Foxhound Journal," the oldest fox hunting magazine in the world.

Wight's favorite foxhound, "Hornet" is also on the cover. Wight says "Hornet" has won his class many times and has also piled-up an impressive record in natural carriage.

Wight, who also raises Beagles, has hunted for 67 years. He was interviewed by "Rang" editor G. E. Derrickson who, while attending the Illinois State Foxhound meet in Southern Illinois, also featured in the article is Jim Colestone of Virginia, Ill., who has hunted for 60 years, and J. M. (Red) Watson, who has hunted for 50 years.

Watson, who lives near Morgantown, Ky., purchased a foxhound, "Mitzi" from Wight.

Scandal May Aid Illinois Spirit

The much discussed slush fund scandal at the University of Illinois this year certainly hasn't dampened the spirits of Illini football fans. If anything, the Illini following has grown because of the scandal.

That was one view offered by U. of I. athletic publicity director Charles Bellatti, a former Jacksonville resident, at a luncheon before the Jacksonville Rotary Club Friday.

Bellatti and Illini defensive end Ken Kmieciak spoke following the luncheon on one of several stops during the current Illini Poster Tour, promoting this fall's Illinois home gridiron schedule.

"We have had twice as many tickets sold in a one-week period this year than in any other previous year," commented Bellatti. "There is a good possibility that ticket manager George Leigh may have to suspend ticket sales for the Oct. 21 game against Notre Dame soon, perhaps within two weeks. The last suspension of ticket sales was an Aug. 7 date."

Bellatti also commented, "Throughout the poster tour we have experienced many people not previously connected with Illinois who have voiced their support for the Illini. One could liken it to Notre Dame's 'subway album.' I think it may be a backlash sentiment resulting from the Illini Big Ten problems of these, if needed."

BUNNING LEAVES HOSPITAL PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pitcher Jim Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies was released from the hospital Friday after tests and treatment for a bronchial congestion.

A Phillies spokesman said all tests and X-rays were negative and that the right-hander would be able to pitch over the week-end from Illini Big Ten problems of these, if needed.

ASHLAND CLUB BOARD DISCUSSES NEW PROJECTS

ASHLAND — The Ashland Woman's Club board met June 13 in the library basement with thirteen members present. Mrs. A. E. Anderson, president, presided.

Mrs. E. Y. Johnson, past president, reported on the planting of the flower beds in James Park, and on the trophy awarded to the outstanding senior.

Mrs. Anderson reported that the club would pay $25 to the Junior Woman's Club on the project of replacing the signs at the entrance of the village. The Village board has been contacted regarding the cost of replacing the sign in James Park.

A brief discussion was held regarding the Illinois Sesquicentennial celebration in 1968. One project suggested for next year was to finish the cataloging of books for the Ashland library.

Department chairmen selected members of their committee for the coming year.

Those present at the meeting were: Mrs. W. C. Stribling, courtesy; Mrs. Bernice Hayes, education; Mrs. E. L. Beadles, fine arts; Mrs. C. V. Satorius, international affairs; Mrs. Doyle Taylor, membership; Mrs. Vernon Salade, press book; Mrs. Sinclair Savage, program; Mrs. Herschel Reiser, social; Mrs. E. Y. Johnson, ways and means; Mrs. Richard Thornley, treasurer; Mrs. Glen Sinclair, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edgar Thornley, secretary; and Mrs. A. E. Anderson, president.

Ashland Notes

Thirteen members of the Loyal Daughters class of the Church of Christ met June 13 in the church basement. Hostesses were Eula Fitzsimmons and her sister, Glenna Jones. Mrs. Mary Douglass had the program.

Mrs. Elwill (Pearl) Mau underwent major surgery at Memorial hospital in Springfield Monday morning.

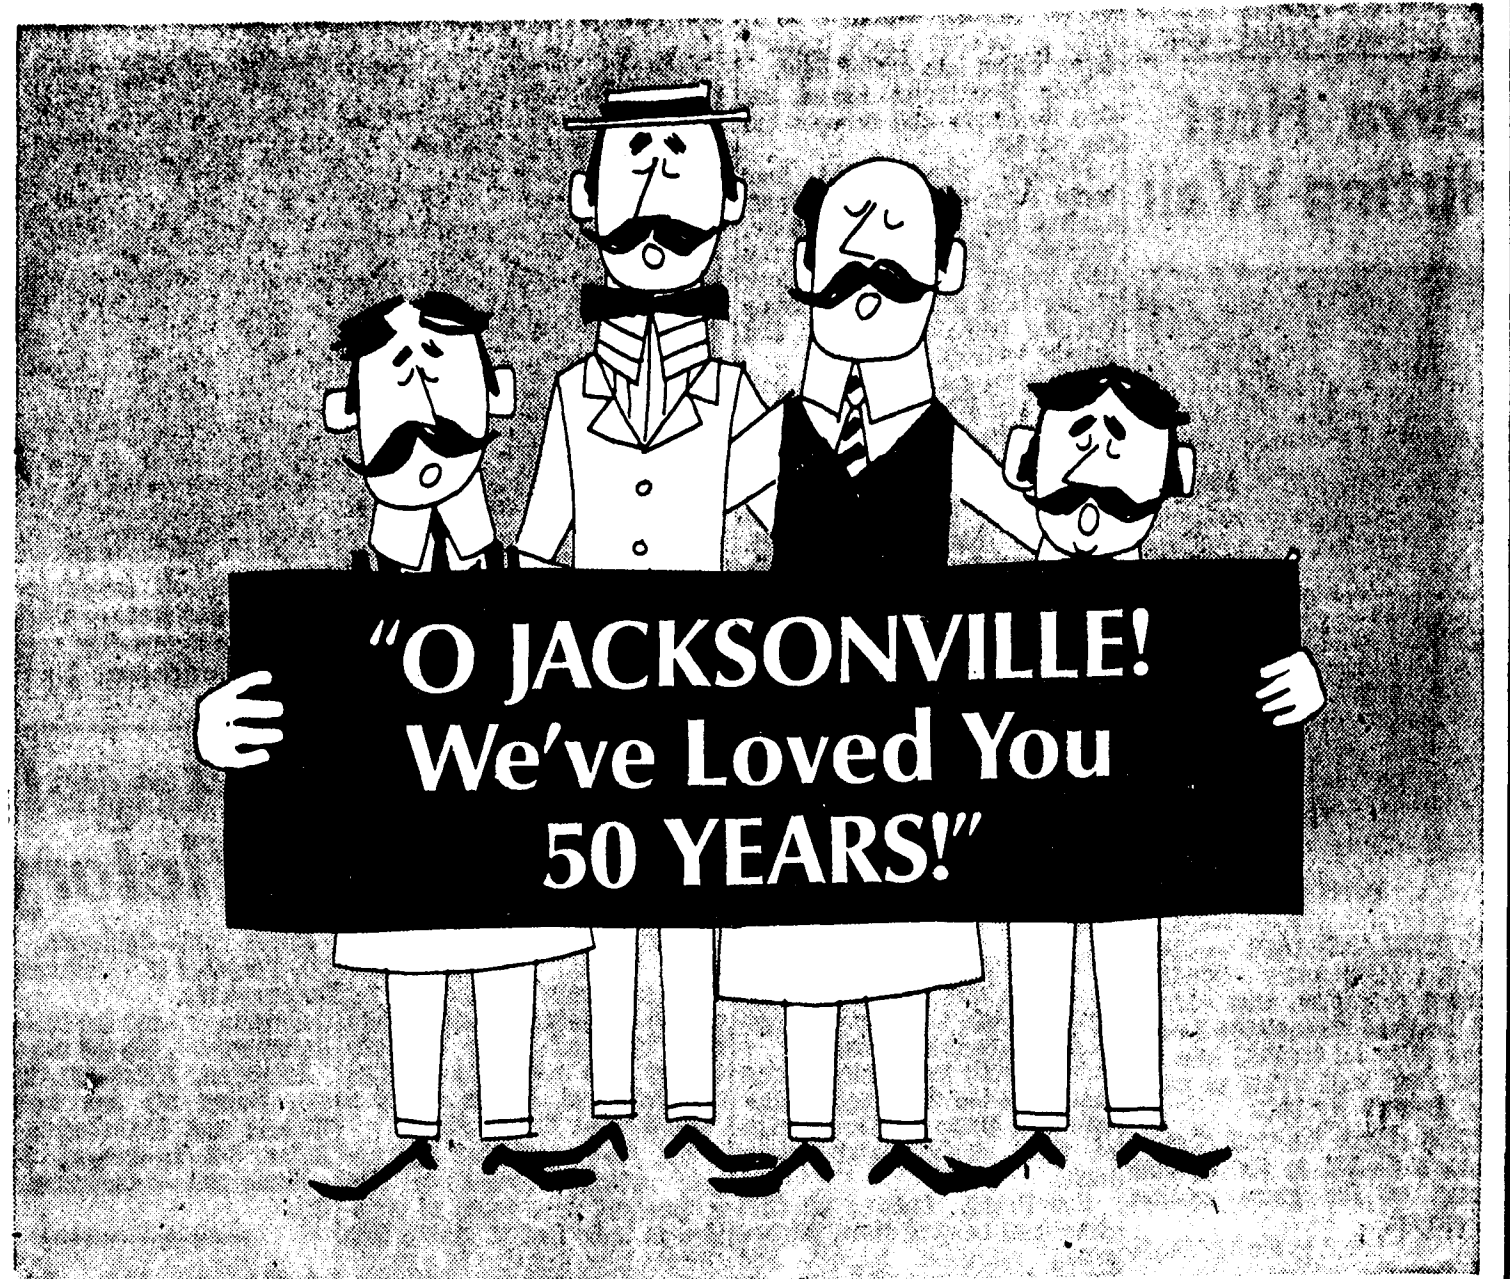

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Isenhower and son left Wednesday morning for a ten days vacation in Colorado and Montana.

GAS HEAT

You'll be glad you did all winter long

With natural gas heat next winter, the thermostat does what it's told—automatically. You'll enjoy even heat . . . instead of the "too hot"—"too cold" kind you get with old-fashioned heating systems. And you don't have to sweat out a fuel delivery in the dead of winter.

It makes sense to convert to gas now in the warm weather when heating contractors have ample time.

Getting gas heat installed is simple and easy. Just call your heating contractor and he'll get the job done quickly.

P.S. 8 out of 10 new homes are heated with natural gas.

Let's try to see how an expert's mind works as he bids and plays a hand in match point duplicate. Our expert sits South today and his first thought is that he has a normal two heart over-call. Not too weak, but very little in reserve.

His partner raises to three and South decides to go on to game. Not that he is at all confident. He knows that he really has no rebid but he has noted that his partner is an underbidder and, in any case, he expects that the field will be in game.

When dummy hits the table South wishes that he had settled for three hearts. He is looking at two quick spade losers and two very probable club losers later on. Is there any way he can eliminate one of those club losers? Yes, there is! He can draw trumps, strip the hand of spades and hearts and play ace and one club. If it turns out that either opponent started with doubleton king-queen; king-jack or queen-jack of clubs there is an automatic end play.

There is no use giving up. He had better try for it and in addition he had better play in such manner that if one opponent started with king-small he will forget to drop his king under the ace.

He should time the play so that he will lead the first club from dummy and he should also play to lead the second club from his own hand. If West started with king-jack and two small clubs he might well play the jack whereupon East could be stuck in with the queen.

East cashed two spades and shifts to a trump. South wins in his own hand, leads a diamond to dummy's ace, ruffs a diamond, leads a trump to dummy and plays a club.

As you can see East holds king-seven and should play the king but this East played the seven. South ruffed his last spade in dummy, ruffed dummy's last diamond and led a club. East was in with the king and had to give South a ruff and discard and his contract.

Specialized Sod Planter

U.I. AGRONOMISTS SAY that corn planted in sod will yield as well as plow-plant corn, or corn planted in conventional seed beds if the plant population is kept high and if weeds are controlled.

But before sod planting becomes a common practice farmers will need a planter similar to the one developed by Donnie Morris, Dixon Springs agricultural center mechanic. The narrow-heeled shoe following the rolling colter, lower left, cuts a slot that is easier to fill than slots cut by conventional shoes. Morris, lower right, points to the packer wheel that carries a three-way-adjustable serrated disc blade that covers the slot. The conventional packer wheel only controls planting depth.

Franklin Club Wins Share - Fun Laurels

The Franklin Straight Shooters 4-H club won the first place award Monday evening in the 1967 Morgan County Share-the-Fun finals. Lloyd DeOnnellas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob DeOnnellas, Jacksonville, won the first place award for master of ceremonies.

The Peppy Peppers 4-H club's skit "The Intergalactic Vogue" was chosen runner-up. Alternate M. C. was Art Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Moss. Approximately 500 people attended the contest held at Jonathan Turner Junior High School to watch the eleven 4-H Clubs and three M.C.'s compete for the privilege of representing Morgan County in the state contest to be held during the Illinois State Fair.

All eleven clubs and the three M.C.'s competing Monday evening had received "A" ratings at their district contest. A district contest was held at Chapin on June 8 where 15 clubs gave their skits, and one was held at Franklin on June 9 where 11 clubs competed for "A" ratings. Leaders of the winning club, the Franklin Straight Shooters, are John Gordon, Franklin, Robert Darley, Jacksonville; and Howard Bryant, Franklin. The club presented a skit titled "4-H Green and the 4-H."

Army Worms Hit Morgan Wheat; Worst Since '64

Morgan county wheat fields have the heaviest army worm infestation since 1964, Farm Adviser George Trull said last week.

Quite a few fields have been sprayed by airplane, using a solution of toxaphene at a cost of $2.75 per acre.

"Many of the fields I have examined are just on the border-line," Trull said. "Current recommendations from U.I. entomologists suggest spraying only when there are six worms to each lineal foot of row."

"Many fields have up to four worms per foot, and in these border-line cases many farmers believe it is profitable to spray. Especially if the wheat field is adjacent to corn, where the larger worms migrate and do considerable damage to the young stalks."

BRIMFUL Plant In A Pasture,
Harvest A Top Corn
Crop, Say Specialists

We hear a lot of talk about the high cost of new machinery, and it is high. But what can be done about it?

Well, in some cases maybe a used tractor might be a good buy and do as much if not more work for the same money spent than a new one.

Question—What to look for when considering a used tractor.

Answer—
1. Look at the hour meter: 2,000 to 3,500 on gas, 2,500 to 5,000 on a diesel means its about time to expect an overhaul.

2. Start the engine. See that all the gauges work. Slow cranking speed may mean electrical or starter trouble. Misfiring may mean a number of things—plugs, valve trouble, water in cylinder. Blue smoke means oil burning; black smoke—carburetion problems.

3. Look at the oil dip stick. Water gives oil a milky appearance. Extra heavy oil means oil consumption in a gasoline engine or diesel combustion problems.

4. Clutch pedal should have free movement. Check clutch and transmission for smoothness at all speeds.

5. Remove radiator cap. Look for signs of liming or plugging. Signs that engine overheats. Beware of bent fan blades, fan marks on radiator.

6. Air cleaner should be clean. Leaks in air lines mean rapid wear. Air cleaner is especially important in diesels since they use so much more air.

7. Drain a sample of gear lubricant into a paper cup, dilute with kerosene or fuel oil, stir with a magnet. Beware if metal chips cling to magnet. Also metal chips may make it difficult to replace plug if they are in threads.

8. PTO operation should be smooth. Beware if PTO shift or clutch lever is loose, has lots of play or tends to jump out of gear.

9. Unusual repair such as welded wheel hub, block, etc., may be sign of previous hard use.

10. Tire condition is important. Check for gouges, gashes, breaks in sidewalls.

11. Condition of drawbar and hitch linkage may also indicate hard use.

12. Check rear axle housing for cracks, axle seals for leakage, etc.

13. Check appearance of everything, function of auxiliary systems.

BE SURE IT WILL BE CAPABLE OF DOING THE JOB YOU EXPECT IT TO DO.

Now you should...
...Worm pigs.
...Top out lambs.
...Cultivate.
...Vaccinate.
...Have your eyes checked.
...Kill poison ivy.
...Look for a watermelon.

Half of the fun of taking a trip is planning it. Have you started planning a summer trip? Even if only a day take one, show the kids and yourself how other people do things.

Learn all you can about where you are going before you go. Sometimes a sharp sentence will deflate a big wind.

PITTSFIELD IS REPRESENTED AT FFA CONVENTION

PITTSFIELD — Pittsfield high school Future Farmers of America who attended the FFA Convention at the University of Illinois June 13-15 are Muriel Walton, Robert Cooper, Donald Foster, Mark Heighman and Glen Cooley. Two members of the Pittsfield chapter were awarded State Farm Degrees, the highest awarded by the Illinois FFA organization. They are Ed Brokaw and Carl Baker.

Ed Brokaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gavain Brokaw of rural Pleasant Hill, has held the offices of reporter, president of the FFA chapter, president of junior class and is a member of the band, National Honor Society and Theatians and has been in several plays. This past year he won the Chapter Star Farmer Award and Chapter Beef Production honors and was a chapter and section winner in livestock production. After graduation he plans to attend Abilene Christian College in Abilene, Texas, majoring in agriculture industries.

Carl Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Baker Jr. of rural Pittsfield has been treasurer and secretary of his FFA chapter, won section and chapter corn production awards and was chapter winner in swine husbandry. He plans to attend Gem City Business College in Quincy after graduating from high school.

Silver can be used for more than just a pretty pin. It has many uses in medicine — for antiseptics, astringents and caustics and it is ideal for surgical wire and plates to replace bones. Silver also sterilizes water, fills teeth, backs mirrors, acts as a catalyst in the manufacture of fertilizers and destroys warts.

Plant corn in the pasture without plowing? Not everybody does it, but University of Illinois agronomist George E. McKibben of Dixon Springs Agricultural Center says that as soon as planting equipment becomes available, more farmers will plant corn in sod.

McKibben is using a planter developed by Donnie Morris, Dixon Springs farm mechanic, to plant corn in sod for research studies. And he says that with high plant populations — 20,000 to 24,000 plants per acre — and good weed control you can expect yields to be as high as when you plow-plant or prepare conventional seedbeds.

McKibben says that their research indicates that you must kill 90 to 100 percent of the sod. When you broadcast the chemical behind the planter, use a material that kills the above-ground part of the weeds within 48 hours. A quick kill is especially important when sod and weeds are 12 to 18 inches tall, because tall weeds seriously compete with corn seedlings for both light and water.

McKibben says that plant populations should be high enough to produce top yields when corn growing conditions are "just right."

In 1964 when rainfall was limited at Dixon Springs, sod-planted corn yields were about the same on all plots with populations between 9,300 and 18,000.

Rain, Plus 10 Bushels
But in 1965 — a year with more rainfall — the high-population plantings out-yielded low population plantings by about 10 bushels.

The chemically controlled sod seedbeds contained more moisture in the top six inches of soil from July 12 to Sept. 14 than either of the other two types of seedbeds. But the moisture content at the 6- to 12-inch depth was about the same for all plots from August 2 to Sept. 7. After July 12 population did not seem to affect soil moisture in the top six inches.

But weed control in sod plantings is more costly than weed control in conventional plantings he points out. Two chemicals — atrazine and paraquat — were studied in 1966 to learn if lower rates could be used to reduce herbicide costs. The reduced rates of atrazine and paraquat combinations gave satisfactory results. But paraquat alone or with later 2,4-D applications did not kill the sod.

McKibben believes that using enough water to thoroughly wet the sod may be important in getting good control.

19 From Morgan Clubs To Attend 4-H Week

Nineteen Morgan County 4-Hers will attend the 1967 State 4-H Club Week program at the University of Illinois Urbana, Tuesday through Friday.

The Morgan county summer assistant farm adviser, George Young, says that a new feature of this year's program will be the 4-H "Game of Democracy," a game developed at John Hopkins University. By playing the game, 4-Hers learn about their government and the legislative decision-making processes.

Former Miss America Marilyn Van Derbur, a well-received speaker at last year's program, will deliver her teen-directed message, "Your Goals and Dreams."

Other speakers will include: J. C. Bostain, scientific linguist from the Department of State's Foreign Service Institute; Miss Dorothy Emerson, a "platform conversationalist" and consultant with the National 4-H Foundation; and Orville G. Bentley, dean of the U. of I. College Agriculture.

Twelve sessions are planned to help members learn about different career opportunities. In addition to attending the annual barbecue, parties, song fests and dances, the group will attend a concert performed by Illinois 4-H chorus.

June Meeting Of Morgan NFO

Morgan County NFO met for a dinner meeting at Hamilton's Restaurant in Jacksonville Tuesday evening. Edgar Robinson, Jr., county chairman, led a discussion on recent grain sales and channels for livestock through collection points. The group decided to hold a family picnic in late July.

Leonard Kramp, Illinois state president, informed the members of pending events and future dates in NFO. District meeting will be held in Meredosia July 8 and the state convention in Springfield Sept. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Johnson and family of Alexander were elected to represent Morgan county in the district as the typical farm family contest.

Attends Peoria Farm Conference

John Chambers, executive secretary of the Morgan County Farm Bureau, attended a three-day Farm Bureau management conference in Peoria, June 6-8.

Sessions at the conference were designed to help the county Farm Bureau executive secretary provide administrative leadership for the county Farm Bureau and assist volunteer leaders and workers in building and maintaining an active and aggressive organization to meet the needs of Illinois farmers.

Theme of the conference was, "Together We Build." About 125 career Farm Bureau employees from throughout Illinois attended the conference sponsored by Illinois Agricultural Association.

Speakers at the annual conference were Dr. Ernest Anderson and Miss Gertrude Kaiser, University of Illinois extension service; John C. Lynn, legislative director, American Farm Bureau Federation, Washington, D. C.; William J. Kuhfuss, Illinois Agricultural Association president; and Kenneth M. Piper, Motorola, Inc. vice president, Birdsell Park.

4-H CLUB MEETS AT CENTENARY CHURCH

The regular meeting of the Little Women 4-H club was held at Centenary church June 10 with Loretta Rattler presiding. Ellen Fanning led the group in prayer.

Mary Ann Slater and Veda Flowers led the pledges to the U.S. and 4-H flags. Kathy Lewis, secretary, then presented her report.

Talks were given by Mary Ann Slater and Veda Flowers. Ellen Fanning was appointed to prepare a list of movies recommended for all. The list will later be published in the local newspaper.

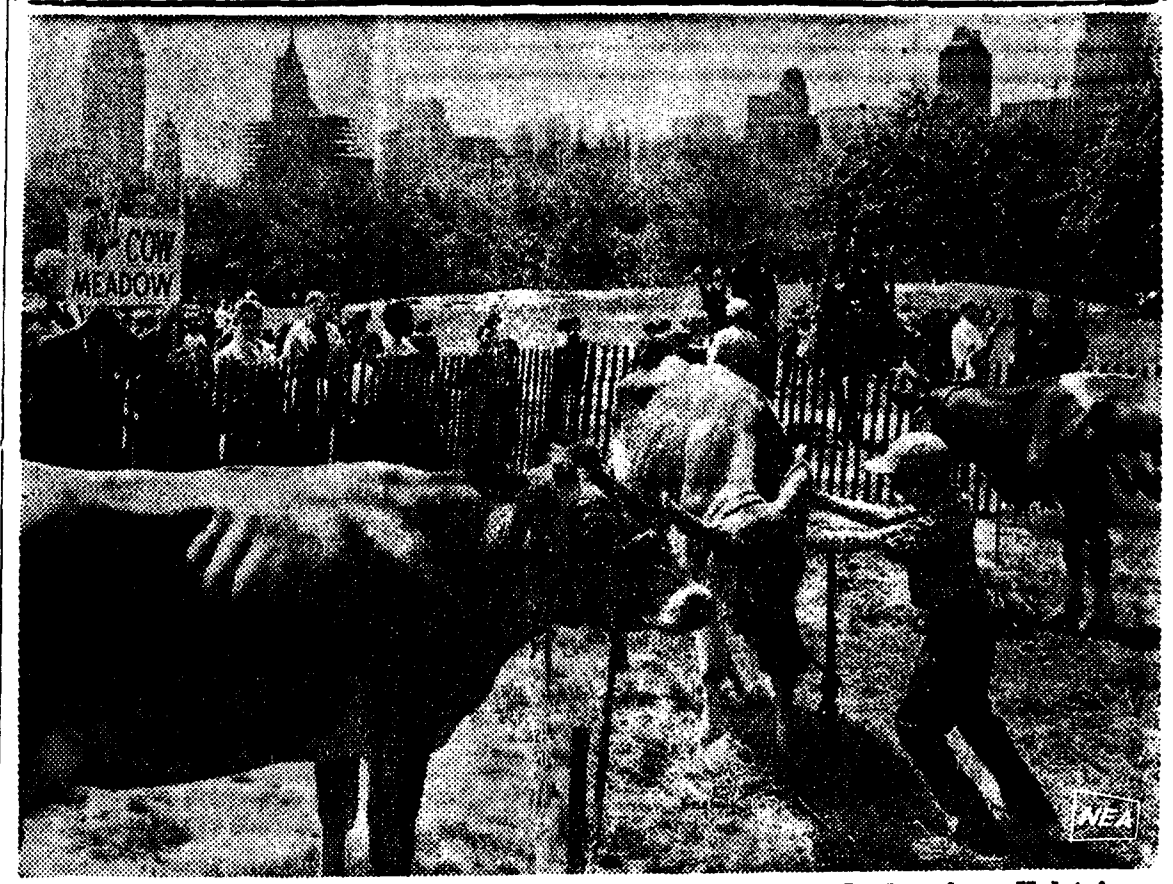

Several members plan to attend 4-H camp, beginning July 10. The next meeting will be held June 24.

Farmers In Desperate Shape, Democratic House Leader Says

American farmers are in desperate circumstances, according to the chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture. And, the consumer as well as the farmer will suffer if a prosperous agriculture is allowed to diminish further, said Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) Monday before the 12th annual convention of National Plant Food Institute at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Farm prices have dropped this spring to the lowest level in 33 years, said Poage. There has been a 10 per cent price drop just since August, 1966 — "The most severe drop in my recollection," he added.

Farmers who are broke cannot continue to produce an abundance of food and fiber for this nation, much less increase production to aid other countries, continued the Congressman. "We might well be short of food this very moment if farmers had to depend solely on prices received in the market places, and if these prices in terms of parity — had been as low in all the years since 1940 as they are today," he added.

Poage praised the fertilizer industry for helping farmers "master the arts of abundance." He indicated that efficient use of fertilizer has aided the farmer in the fight against the farm cost-price squeeze at times when the rest of the economy enjoyed unprecedented prosperity.

Incentive is the key to abundance, noted Poage, and added that current agricultural abundance may disappear if reasonable rewards to farmers are not established.

"Are In Trouble"

Dr. Earl L. Butz, Dean of Agriculture, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., indicated many Americans may not realize that U.S. farmers are in trouble as of mid-1967. "Late last year, 1967 was being boomed as a good farm year. Talk centered around the 'new era' for farmers, with surpluses down, population up, and a world becoming hungrier. Yet, mid-1967 finds farmers more restless than they have been for years," he said, and added, "Livestock profits are paper-thin, and both food and feed grain prices are weak."

Production Zooms

World output and use of fertilizers has increased more than 70 per cent since 1960 — an increase of about 20 million metric tons. Nitrogen production and use alone has nearly doubled, while phosphate and potassium output and consumption each has risen by about 55 per cent.

This was given Tuesday as part of a world fertilizer outlook and situation report by Jan M.

HAPPY WORKERS MEET

The Happy Workers 4-H club met recently at the home of Annette Fernandes to discuss the club's share-the-fun project. Talks and demonstrations were given by Ruth Ann Hayes, Sharon Sellers and Debbie Luster.

The next meeting will be at the home of Anita McManus.

NOTICE

TO THE RURAL RESIDENTS OF MORGAN CO.

Work is now underway on a new up to date Atlas of the county. This Atlas, the first of its kind to be published in many, many years. It will contain the following features:

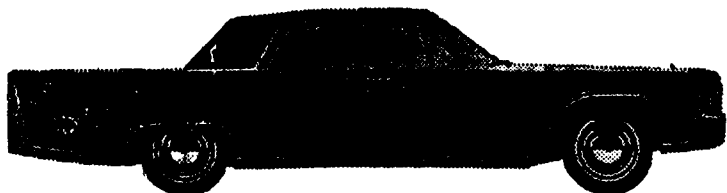

1. New township plats, showing each farm location.
2. A new and accurate numbering system for fast location of each rural resident.
3. A brief resume of each family.
4. Hundreds of pictures of local interest such as family groups, children, farm activities, etc.

Our representative will be calling on you to gather the needed data. The information given will not obligate you in any way, but will fairly represent you and your family in the Morgan Co. Atlas forever.

Our representatives will be registered with the local sheriff's office and will carry proper identification.

Nichols Park
Ladies Golf

The weatherman provided a most beautiful morning for our Ladies' Day activities. The event for the morning was the most 4's for first flight golfers and the most 5's for second flight players.

Seems as tho no one in the first flight wanted to win as there was a four way tie between Fran Chumley, Evelyn Cruzan, Marge Howard and Betty Dyer. This tie will be broken next week and the winner being the gal who has the most pars. Edna Greenler had low net honors in the first flight. Second flight event winner was Virginia Olson and low net honors to Lorraine Buchanan.

This coming Tuesday will be Tee Day at Nichols Park. Check your program book for details of the event. On Wednesday we will be guests at the Country Club Guest Day. Names and handicaps were given to Fran Chumley last week. If you had given your name to me last Tuesday and find that you can not attend please call Fran Chumley 44028, as soon as possible.

Please remember to post all of the scores at the Pro Shop each time you play. Also check your handicap before playing.

Was good to learn that a few people read this column as Dorothy Busche has been on the course several times this past week and I learned that Toni Rayburn is home caring for a burned finger. Take care Toni and we hope to see you soon. I have also had two or three gals tell me they will be out this coming week — so see you there —

State FFA Meet

FRANKLIN — The Franklin chapter of the Future Farmers of America was well represented at the State FFA Convention at The University of Illinois June 13-15. Members attending were Dick Bergschneider, and David Wilson, delegates; David Hermes, and Richard Koehler, alternates; J. R. Harris, Keith Power, Gary Strawn, and Larry Wilson.

Byron Strawn of Alexander, advisory council member, and Paul Cranfill, Chapter Advisor, drove and attended the Convention with the chapter members.

There were many notable highlights of the 39th annual FFA Convention. Gary Swan of New York State National FFA President, delivered a challenging address to the 2,000 Illinois Future Farmers in attendance. The Illinois Agricultural Association presented a fine entertainment program Tuesday evening, featuring radio and television personalities. Several young men from the West Central area of Illinois made FFA headlines during the convention.

Tom Johnson of the Ashland Chapter was elected Illinois State FFA President for the coming year. David Brueggeman of Southwestern FFA Chapter at Piassa was elected Section Chairman for Section 15, he also was Section 15, and District III Star Farmer. David Wilson of the Franklin Chapter was elected Section 15 Secretary, and David Bergschneider of Waverly was elected Section 15 Treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rees, Willie Rees, and Mrs. Pete Ebrey attended the State FFA Convention Thursday afternoon, when Willie was one of the 320 Illinois Future Farmers to receive the coveted State Farmer Degree.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By BILL BUCHANAN

On Father's Day, dad is 'supposed' to have his slippers brought to him; to have his pipe or cigars handed to him; to have the right to select TV programs of his choice on his special day. Most dads are realistic though and understand even if these things don't happen.

With life as it is, there are all sorts of fathers... just like all sorts of women and children. Some dads are considerate, some inconsiderate. Some are disciplinarians, some easy going. Some are affectionate, some indifferent. Some are contented, some discontented. Some are happy, some unhappy. Some are ambitious, some are not. Some are companions to their families, some are aloof.

In all these contrasts, one thing stands out. Blood relationship is one thing. A friendly relationship is another thing. And a blood relationship without a friendly relationship is a tragedy. For all of you who read this, we sincerely hope Father's Day is a triumphant day — a friendly day for all fathers and families — everywhere.

Ike: 'Misunderstanding' Caused MacArthur Rift

NEW YORK (AP) — A "misunderstanding" in the Philippine Islands permanently chilled Dwight D. Eisenhower's feelings of friendship for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Eisenhower writes in his latest volume of memoirs.

MacArthur, he indicates, shifted the blame to his subordinates for a project that "horried" Philippines President Manuel Quezon.

Eisenhower relates the incident in his fourth book, "At Ease: Stories I Tell to Friends," published today.

In the late 1930's, Eisenhower was MacArthur's senior aide in Manila, organizing the Filipino defense forces. As a morale builder, he writes, MacArthur suggested bringing units of the new army from all parts of the islands for a parade in Manila.

The defense budget was extremely tight and, when Quezon heard of the project, he disapproved it.

Eisenhower writes: "Now the matter had come to the ears of the president who was horrified to think we were ready for a costly national parade in the capital. Because Gen. MacArthur denied he had given us an order—which was certainly news to us—there was nothing to do except stop the proceedings. This misunderstanding caused considerable resentment—and never again were we on the same warm and cordial terms."

Eisenhower draws an interesting portrait of MacArthur in the book. "In several respects, he was a rewarding man to work for," the former president says. MacArthur's memory was "phenomenal" and "on any subject, he chose to discuss, his knowledge, always amazingly comprehensive, and largely accurate, poured out a torrent of words."

"At all times, he seemed so certain of his professional superiority over his fellow officers and of a high place in American history that he developed in the American public a like appraisal of his merits. His was truly a case where self-confidence breeds self-success."

Eisenhower's three previous books dealt with his role as Allied supreme commander and his two terms in the White House.

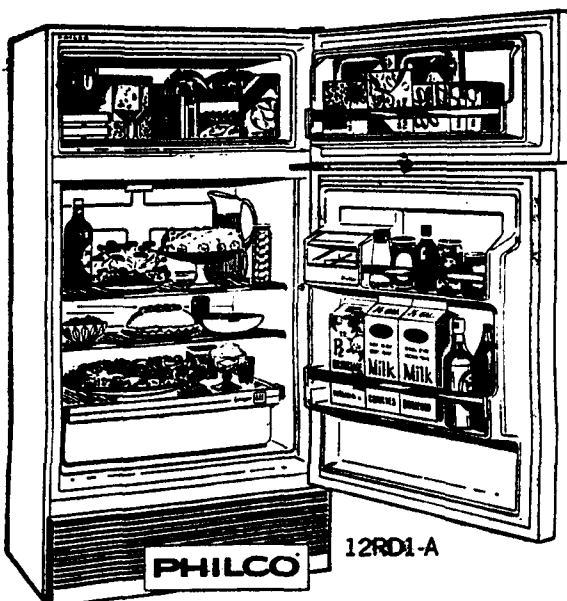

The fourth is more personal. He writes at length about his ancestors and his parents. The family name, he says, translates roughly as "iron" and "hewer," possibly an artisan.

Eisenhower also tells of his days at West Point, describing his pranks and the causes of his demerits—including the incident when he appeared before an upper classman in full uniform except for his trousers.

His parents, who were deeply religious, and an officer under whom he served, Gen. Fox Conner, were the persons who most deeply influenced his thinking. Long before World War II Conner was convinced that it was inevitable and persuaded Eisenhower to prepare himself to be-

Week In Business

Eye Return To Normal Middle East Oil Trade

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil began to flow again in the Middle East this past week, and a fast return to normalcy in the troubled area was hoped for by U.S. business and financial leaders.

Saudi Arabia, largest oil source in the Arab world, was the first to return to full production.

Tankers again began steaming to various world ports with cargoes of oil. They could not go to the United States or Britain, however, because of an embargo imposed by most of the Arab nations.

But the embargo was not expected to affect the United States, which produces most of its own oil. It could be troublesome, though, for Western Europe which depends on Middle Eastern and North African oil for 80 per cent of its imports. Most of the Western countries, however, are reported to have reserve supplies for about two months or more.

Reopening of the Suez Canal was a question mark. Egypt claims the canal was closed by vessels sunk during the Arab-Israeli war and says it has no idea how long it will take to reopen the vital waterway.

The closing has disrupted ocean shipping and shipping rates are being forced upward. Some shippers are reported to have chartered ocean tankers at 50 per cent increased rates.

In other news of the week, U.S. automobile production was estimated at 174,396 units, up slightly from the 173,416 built in the previous week but down 6 per cent from the 186,291 in the year-ago week.

The auto industry said its early June sales ran 4 per cent ahead of the year earlier, totaling 247,989 cars. During the June 1-10 period, Ford Motor Co. said its retail deliveries were 20.7 per cent over 1966 and Chrysler Corp. had a 1.5 per cent gain. General Motors Corp., however, said its sales were down 2.7 per cent and American Motors Corp. reported a 5.3 per cent drop.

Heading into the final weeks of production of 1967 models, the industry has set a target of 929,000 more cars before the model year ends. Most of these cars are to be built during the last three weeks of July, with the last '67 scheduled to come off the Ford lines early in August.

In a talk to the Automotive Analysts of New York, Chrysler President Virgil E. Boyd predicted 1967 would be the third best sales year in industry history with total sales of about 8.3 million units.

The Commerce Department reported during the week that retail sales totaled $25.1 billion in April, or about 4 per cent above April 1966. Compared with March, the gain was about 1 per cent.

Durable goods sales decreased slightly from March but were 2 per cent over April 1966. Nondurable goods gained 1 per cent over March and 5 per cent over 1966.

The automotive group was up 2 per cent, compared with March and apparel sales were up 10 per cent. However, there was a 6 per cent drop in lumber, building, hardware and farm equipment.

The department also reported construction spending slowed further in April although spending on new housing increased. It said that at a $71.9-billion seasonally adjusted annual rate, outlays were down 2 per cent from March and down more than 8 per cent from a year earlier. Spending on new housing rose 2 per cent from the March level, it said, but public construction of all kinds dropped slightly.

Although prospective home buyers are finding mortgage money easier to secure, the cost of new homes continues to increase. Government figures show mortgage interest rates have dipped from last year's 7 per cent to 6 1/2 or 6 3/4 per cent, but the number of new homes up for sale stood at 185,000 March 31, compared with 219,000 a year earlier.

The government's restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit was cited for a spurt in rail equipment buying. Orders totaling nearly $100 million for new rolling stock were announced by six railroads and other railroads indicated they planned to increase car purchases. Before restoration of the tax credit, rail equipment orders this year had been running 75 per cent behind 1966.

for men's merchandise. Last year more than $12 million was spent on publicity, not including paid advertising which "broke all previous records."

The council, a nonprofit promotional organization, and the National Retail Merchants' Association export sales for Fathers Day gifts to reach well over a billion dollars this year. Gifts will range from the usual ties, socks and shirts to air conditioners, backyard barbecue equipment and even automobiles.

"There's money around — everybody's working and no body's worried," said William Burston, merchandising manager of the association.

To promote the occasion, the Father's Day Council set down a strict schedule beginning with distribution of displays and advertising mats to merchants April 1.

May 25, was "national curtain-raising day" for publicity, and June 5 was the suggested date for retailers to start advertising and assembling window displays.

Manufacturers were busy turning out gifts not shown prior to the Father's Day selling period.

So what will be bestowed on Dad Sunday morning?

One department store says it could be a banana color, double-breasted blazer, or a tie in wild prints, florals, paisleys, stripes or checks.

In gifts under $2, there's an "air-conditioned" hat band for the outdoors type. The band is moistened then inserted into any hat for "instant summer comfort."

A chrome-plated fish scaler, with a built-in knife, is in the under $5 category.

An $80 "surprise" is packaged in a box that is about the right size for a tennis racket. It's a see-through inflatable vinyl lounge chair.

Burston, the merchant association official, says apparel retailers benefit more from Father's Day than Mothers' Day because mother is remembered more with flowers, candy and long-distance telephone calls.

But the greeting card industry says business for them is twice as good on Mothers' Day.

"I think it's disgusting," said a card saleswoman. "Women buy cheap cards if they buy one at all, whereas husbands take their time and maybe spend 50 cents."

ASHLAND SCIENCE TEACHER ATTENDS SUMMER INSTITUTE

ASHLAND — Burdette J. Bennett, Jr., of Ashland is attending the annual Summer Science Institute at National Science Foundation graduate program for high school science teachers at Illinois Wesleyan University.

This is Bennett's second year to attend the institute. The courses carry college credit and students may earn their Master's degree in three summers.

Miss Karen Newell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Newell of Ashland was among the 850 students receiving BS degrees in education at the commencement ceremony at Illinois State University at Normal.

Grains Close Lower Despite Late Rally

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat prices rallied on the Board of Trade the final two days of trading during the week but the gains failed to offset earlier losses. All grains and all soybean contracts except the July delivery ended the week lower. Wheat prices have been under downward pressure most of the time since the outbreak of war in the Middle East June 5. Before the latest rally, some wheat contracts were as much as 20 cents a bushel below their June 5 highs.

All grain futures and the bulk of the soybean contracts joined in the Friday price rally which was sparked by good export buying.

Wheat closed Friday 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents a bushel lower than a week earlier, July $1.57 1/2-3 1/2; corn was down 1/2 to 3 cents, July $1.32 1/2-3 1/2; oats were 1/4 to 1 cent lower, July 70 1/2 cents; rye 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents lower, July $1.19 and soybeans were 1 cent higher to 2 1/2 cents lower.

All grains and soybeans slumped at the week's opening session Monday and feeble attempts at recovery failed to gain much headway thereafter.

The sharp decline was caused by an Agriculture Department report forecasting this year's wheat crop at a record 1.55 billion bushels, 18 per cent above last year. This caused a continuation of the downturn which stemmed from the quick settlement of the Middle East war when all participants agreed to the United Nations Security Council cease-fire directive.

Commercial interests, both domestic and export, were inclined to move to the sidelines to await developments. There was also some expectation that wheat prices would decline farther as the current harvest expands. However, export business picked up late in the week with Pakistan and India large buyers of U.S. wheat.

Most the easiness in soybeans was in the new crop contracts. New crop plantings were reported progressing under ideal conditions.

Favorable growing weather for the newly planted corn crop acted as a drag on prices for that cereal. Corn exports also were comparatively light with the season's cumulative total as of June 10 totaling 330 million bushels compared with 485 million bushels during the same period a year ago.

Soybean oil prices drifted lower during the week but soybean meal was mostly higher.

FARM WAGES DOWN 5% FROM 1963 PEAK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wages to hired workers on the nation's farms are declining from a peak of $2.93 billion in 1963.

They totaled $2.79 billion last year, a decline of about five per cent from 1963. This decline reflected replacement of hand labor by mechanization.

N.Y. Stock Market Continues Climb In Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — A renewal of confidence buoyed the stock market last week and it posted its second straight weekly gain in heavy trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week rose 10.11 to 885.00.

Volume climbed to 54,757,250 shares on the New York Stock Exchange from 48,544,801 the week before. This was the greatest volume since a record weekly total of 56.7 million shares in the week ended March 11.

Stocks were bought as the investment community displayed a more tranquil and assured attitude.

This followed the emotional buying spree of the previous week on news of the Israeli victory and the fact that the United States had not been involved in a direct confrontation with Russia over the Middle East.

The consequence of the Arab-Israeli war seemed even less hazardous this week, despite the large number of problems to be worked out.

Meanwhile, the economic news background was brighter. At long last, the 7 per cent investment tax credit was restored, although this had been anticipated. This had a bullish effect on railroad equipment and other machinery stocks.

In addition, stock market analysts looked with satisfaction at the gains in May for housing starts and personal income. The

They saw the market in a trading range represented roughly by those two figures. If the average were to smash through the level of the May 8 high, of course, it would then have a green light for a big additional rise.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week rose 4.5 to 327.8, making its best weekly rise since the week ended March 18 when it posted a gain equal to this week's.

Some old favorites came back into the list of stock market leaders this week. Standard Kollsman rose 6 1/4, Pittston Co. 4 1/4 and Avco 5 1/4.

Gulf & Western gained 4 points, Hunt Foods 2 and Pan American Sulphur 2 1/2.

Of 1,592 issues traded this week, 918 rose and 543 fell. Bond prices declined again this week. Some sectors of the bond market reached new lows for the year.

The Middle East complexities appeared to have no appreciable effect on the market. And for the first time about a month, the Federal Reserve didn't enter the long-term market.

At Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assets owned by farmers in excess of debts totaled a record high of $227.5 billion or nearly seven per cent more on Jan. 1 than a year earlier.

An Agriculture Department economic report showed today that farm assets — including land, buildings, machinery, livestock and the like — totaled $273.4 billion at the beginning of this year compared with $255 billion a year earlier.

Farm debts as of Jan. 1, 1967 amounted to $45.8 billion. Debts last year increased a record $4.7 billion.

Prize-Winning Glider

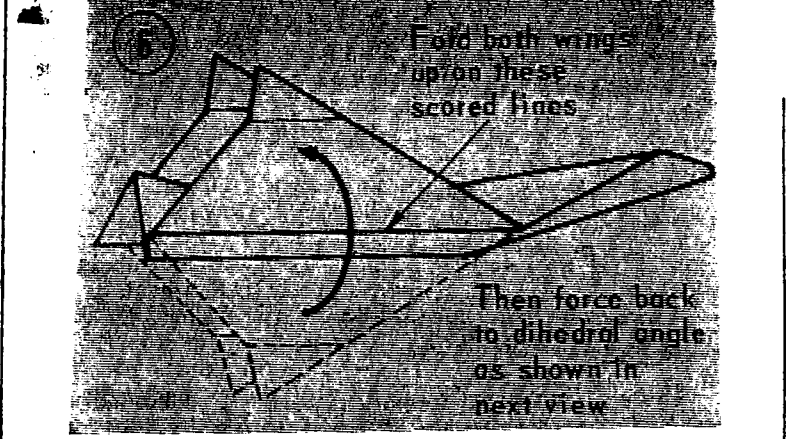

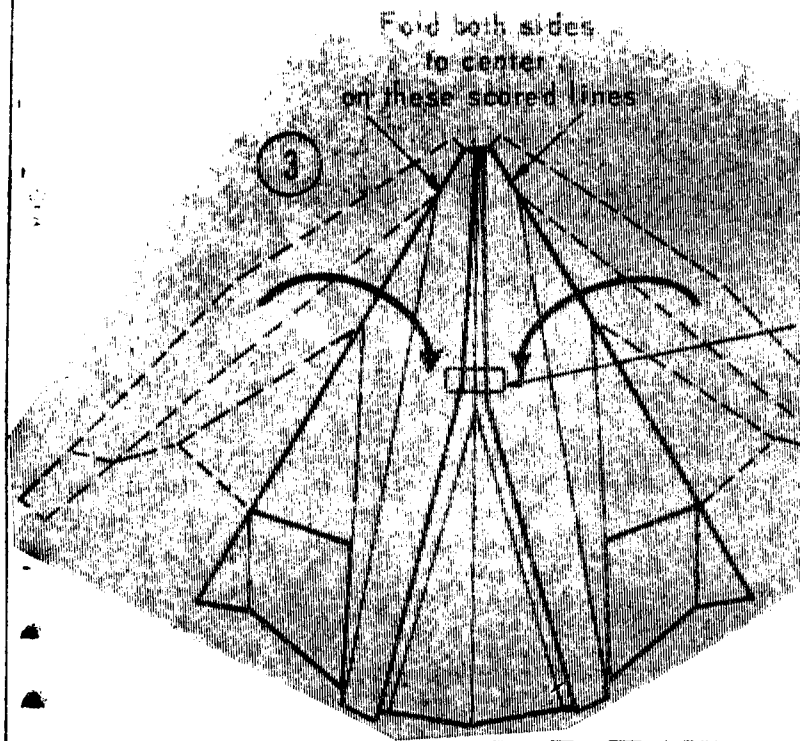

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

Last March a group of space engineers used their knowledge of aerodynamics to see who could design a pattern for a glider which would fly the farthest. The winner was the Silver Cloud designed by a TRW engineer.

You can make this glider by following these simple steps:

First take a sheet of smooth drawing paper about 18 by 12 inches, to make the glider big enough to handle easily. Then fill the paper with a drawing like the one shown in step 1, including the dotted lines on the outside. Now follow the diagrams below. For easy folding lay a ruler, or thin straight edge along the line.

How about writing in and letting us know how far YOUR glider goes?

DOG NAMED REBEL

By John Rankin

Part 3: Another Puzzle

Todd was surprised and dismayed to hear that his big gray-white Blue Merle collie was accused of killing sheep. He had a second surprise when he found that the accused dog, though also of that unusual collie breed as his Rebel, was not his pet after all. When he says this is not his collie Rebel, someone in the group of angry men asks, "Can you prove it?"

With an air of confidence about him Todd's father reached down to place a hand under the big collie's chin and held his head up for all to see.

"Our dog has a big dark scar on his nose where he tangled with a groundhog," he said. "But as you can see for yourself, Squire, this feller's nose is as pink and smooth as a baby's face."

A gasp went up from the crowd and several of the men exchanged knowing glances. Clem Taggart, however, lowered his head in a moment of thoughtful silence and then looked up at Squire Jergens.

"Reckon I acted a mite hasty, Squire," he said apologetically. "Come to think about it a wolf could have killed that sheep, so if you'll turn this big collie loose we'll all go home and forget the whole business."

Where Is Rebel

This was fine with everybody but one big puzzling question still remained unanswered. Where was Rebel? Had he been stolen? Or had he strayed from home and ended up getting shot by some careless hunter? Or had he been crushed by a fallen tree, or had he perhaps toppled to the bottom of a weed-covered well someplace?

With these distressing thoughts in mind Todd and his father went home and spent the day searching for Rebel. They combed the countryside, the fields and wooded hills and valleys. They explored an old abandoned mine and looked for dog tracks in the damp, spongy soil along the creek. Nothing!

Finally the sun was almost down when they reluctantly called off the search and went to the house. They would try again tomorrow, of course, but at the moment any hopes of finding Rebel seemed dim indeed.

A gloomy silence settled over the room as the family sat down to supper. There was none of the lively chatter that usually went on around the table at this hour. Things just didn't seem the same with Rebel gone.

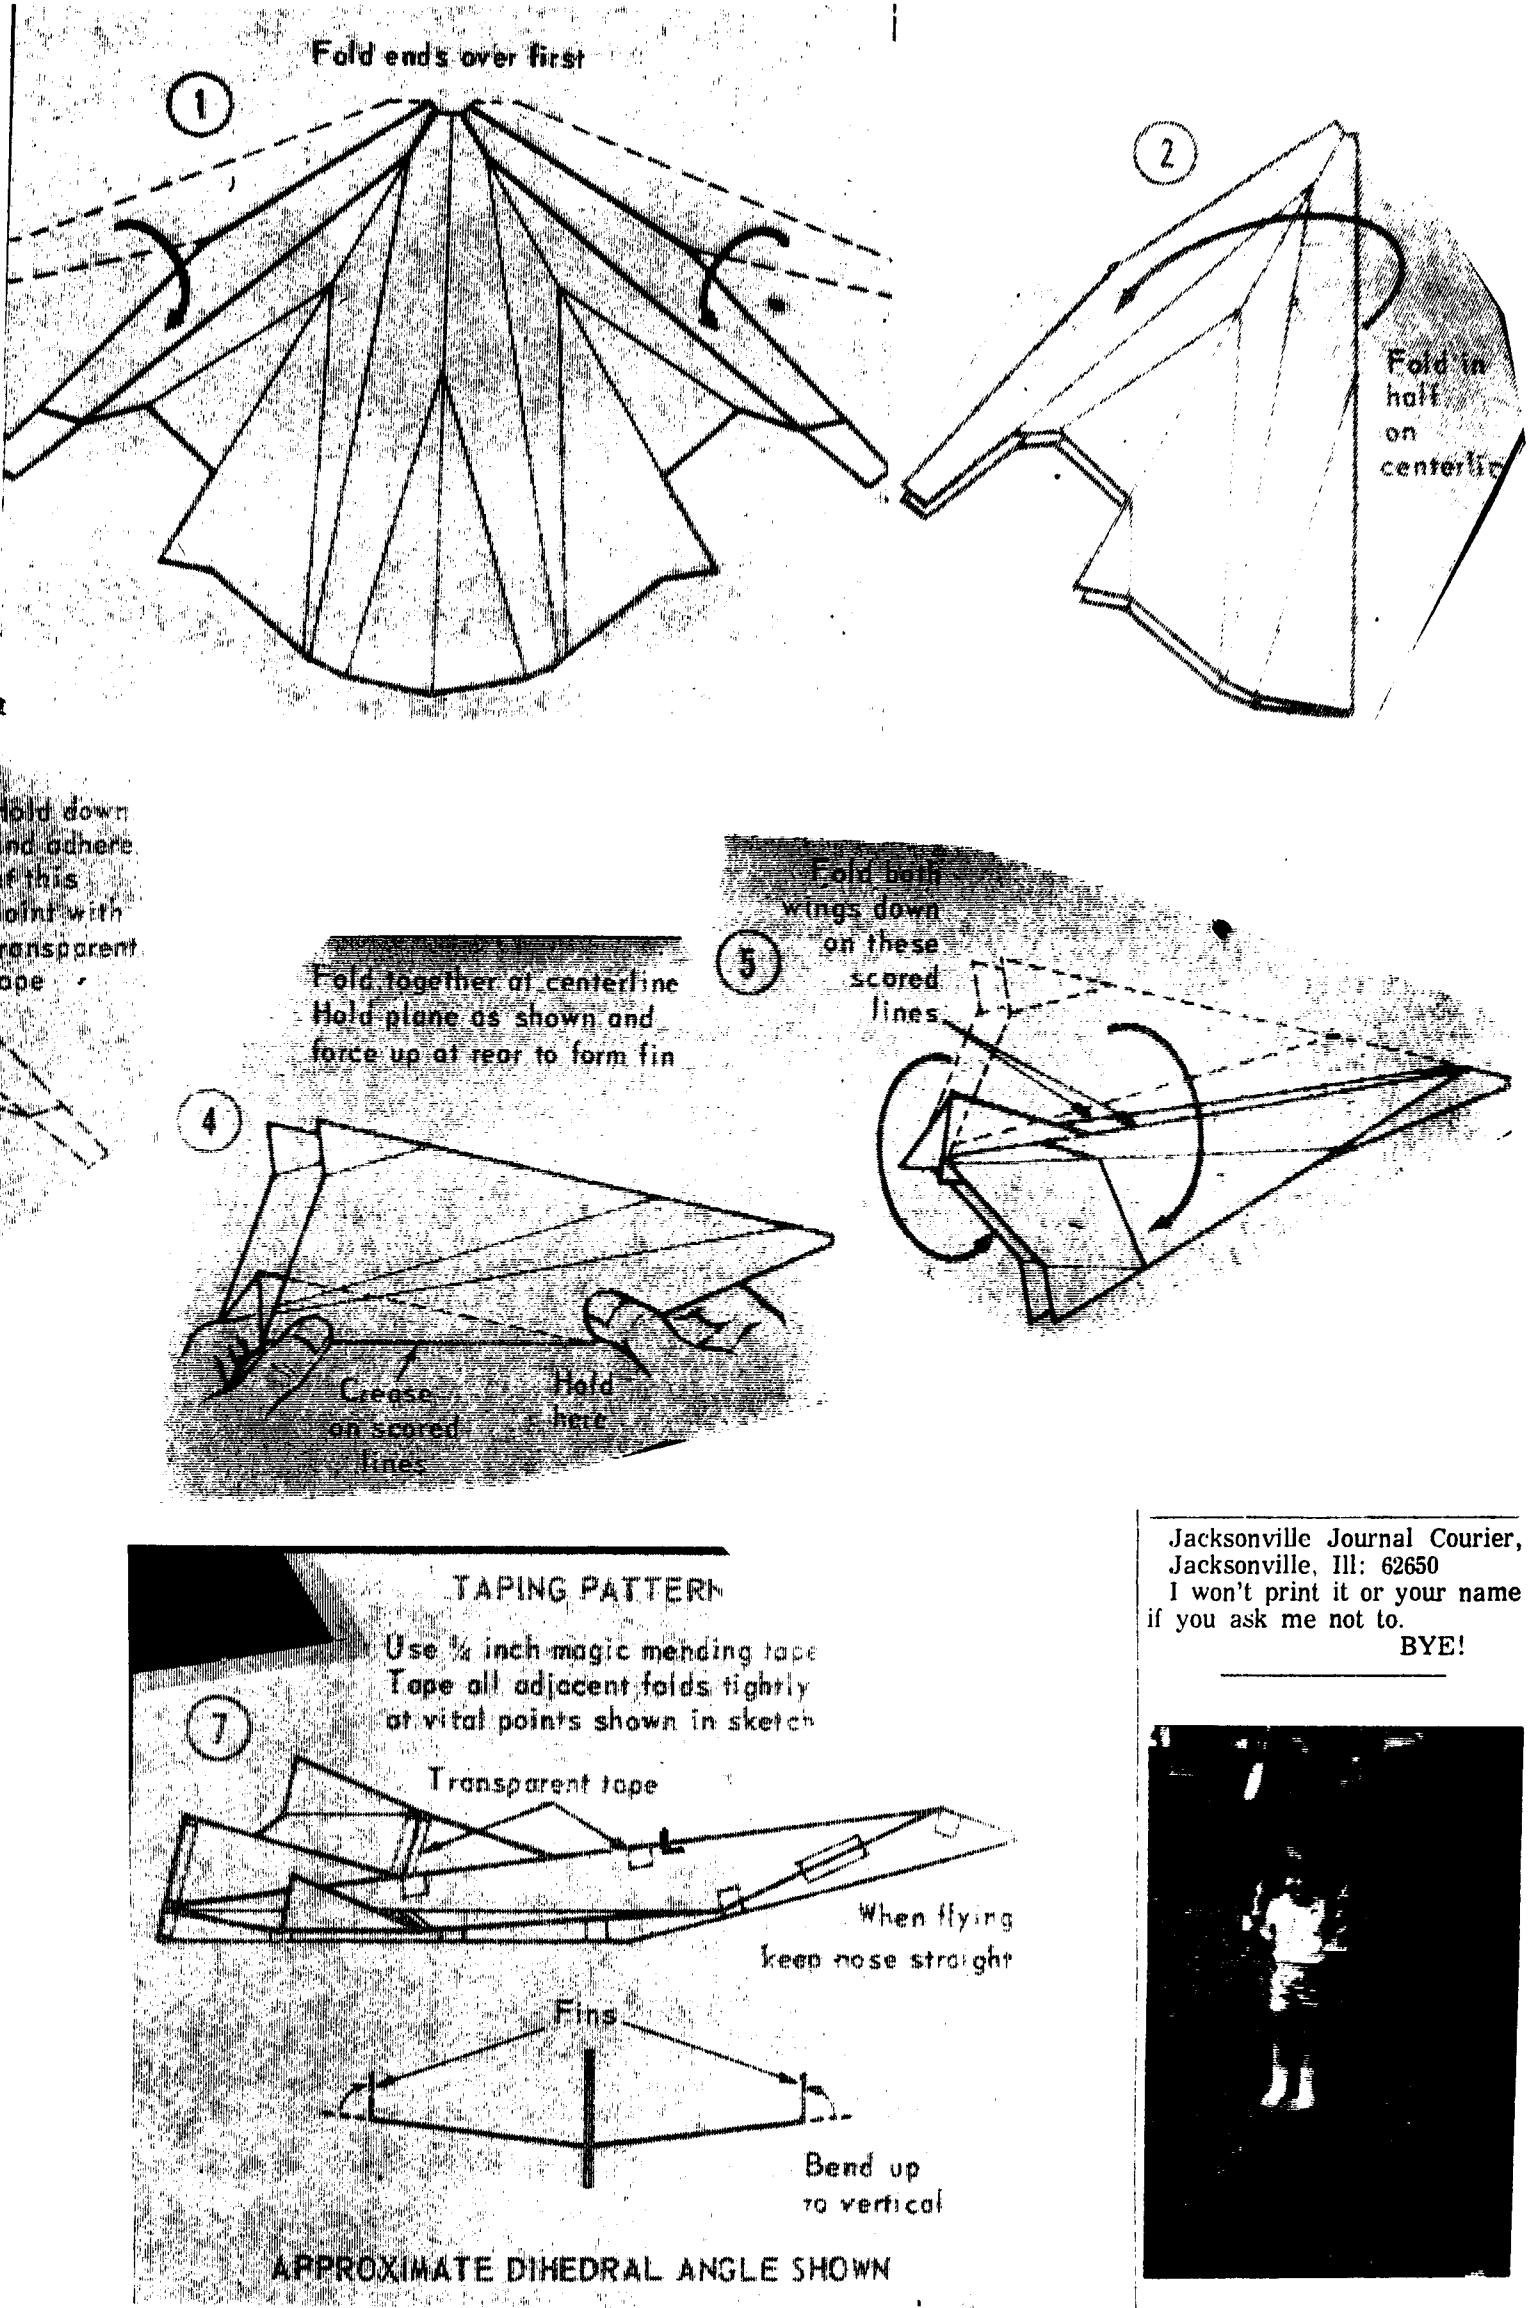

Mother Remembers

Finally Todd's mother propped an elbow on the table and let her chin rest in the palm of her hand. "I just can't understand it," she said dreamily, as though speaking to no one in particular. "Most all of yesterday morning Rebel was right here under my feet and then all at once he was gone. It doesn't seem possible that a dog could disappear like that."

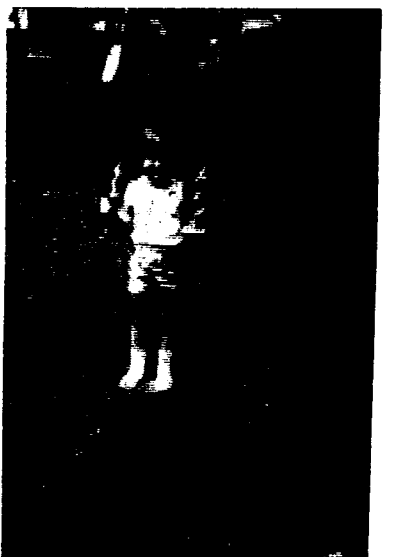

Todd looked across the table at his mother. "Did he act like he was all right, Ma? Did he follow you to the henhouse and everywhere like he always did?"

"Yes, he was at my heels every step I made," she said reflectively. "Now let me think a minute . . . we went to the henhouse, the garden, and then I took some canned fruit to the storm cellar . . ."

Suddenly, as if by magic, a revealing message clicked in everyone's mind, and even before they looked they knew where Rebel was. The storm cellar deep under a great mound of earth out back of the house. Nobody could hear a dog's yelping cries for help in there.

A joyful celebration followed Rebel's release from the storm cellar. He had dug some pretty deep holes in the dirt floor, and several jars of choice fruit lay broken and scattered about. Nobody paid any attention to that, though. Who cared about such things now anyway?

Books

Flash—for all of you avid readers I just found a list of notable books you might enjoy during vacation:

"The Language of Life: An Introduction to the Science of Genetics," George Beadle, and Muriel Beadle, an easy to understand explanation of the science of genetics, or try: "Damned Ugly Children," Andrew Glaze, which has honesty, bite, and humor in it. Another:

"Mr. Clemens and Mark Twain" which is a biography by Kaplan.

"Sleep," Gay Luce and Julius Segal, a scintillating survey of sleep—science findings.

This next I have mentioned before, is very good reading and anybody who drives or wants to learn should read this: "Unsafe at Any Speed: The Designed-in-Dangers of the American Automobile" t

Ralph Nador. This is a study of cars, and why so many accidents happen. It isn't really that gruesome—you'll probably still want to drive!

One more not on the list—but one which might interest you—"The Model" by Terry Reno a professional model tells of what a model's life is really like.

Fresh Air

Flash—Isn't it wonderful—fresh air and sunshine and being able to go out without even a sweater? Doubtless, you are all enjoying the fresh air. You can never get too much, why not try reading outdoors for a change?

Why not take walks, play games, ride bikes, and exercise those tired muscles? After being crammed in the house all winter you should be raring to go! And don't you want to look simply marvelous in that new bathing suit you're planning to buy?

Don't think that bike riding, walking and game playing is kid stuff. It's not!!!!!!

Between You and Me

Flash—Just between you and me—is there something you've been wanting to ASK? Or say? If you do—YOU can ask or say it right here in TEEN SCENE. All you have to do is: send it to me:

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

By STELLA

SUNDAY, JUNE 18 — Born today, you are a many-talented individual who will usually find it as easy to do one thing as another. However, you should find as you grow older that your interests tell more and more into a single, directed goal; unlike many whose abilities are so varied, therefore, you should not have much difficulty in choosing a career. Only take care that you do not choose something that would isolate you from other people, for gregariousness is one of your major traits.

Although you may not care for a career in business, you nevertheless have a strong business sense, which should stand you in good stead no matter what your walk of life. This is especially true of you women who will run a household — and be able to do it economically and at the same time gracefully and elegantly.

You are at times moody and easily depressed — but you are intelligent enough to realize that during such times you should never make an irrevocable decision or enter upon any action with a real bearing upon your future. You are somewhat inclined, however, to disregard mood when it comes to dealings at home, and against this you should be warned. Remember that the best friends you have are in your family; don't offend them!

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, June 19

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Try to settle personal problems before taking on problems of business or profession this morning. Keep afternoon free for changes.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A good day for taking care of a ticklish property matter. Make a special effort to avoid argument during afternoon hours.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Everything having to do with merchandising is favored today. Buying and selling should be especially profitable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — An old employment problem may well rear its ugly head again at this time. If so, meet it with the same solution as previously.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Finances related to a partnership may need careful scrutiny today if all is to end well. Avoid being over-frugal or extravagant.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Take care of details this morning; then you'll be free to engage in the larger plan later in the day. A good day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — A good day for Sagittarius to let loose some of his adventuresome nature. Make an effort to spark a new project with difference.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Major upsets to already established plans could result from this day's cross-currents. Try to schedule time for

Albert Biggs Dies Friday At Age Of 73

Albert E. Biggs, 73, a retired painting contractor, passed away at 2:45 p.m. Friday at Passavant hospital where he had been a patient since June 7.

He was born in Jacksonville March 27, 1894; son of Seaton and Georgia Field Biggs. He was married in 1913 to the former Dona Mae Collison, who survives.

Also surviving are four sons: Kenneth E., Donald Lee, and Reginald, all of Jacksonville and Albert Biggs Jr. of Sacramento, Calif.; one daughter, Betty Jane, wife of Charles Nunes of Jacksonville; five sisters: Mrs. Gladys Wanamaker and Miss Lula Biggs, both of Jacksonville; Miss Helen Biggs of Springfield, Mrs. Florence Pratt of White Hall and Mrs. Lorele Huber, Galena; 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

One daughter, Corabelle, and several sisters and brothers preceded him in death.

Mr. Biggs, a lifelong Jacksonville resident, was a member of Central Christian church, the Married Couples class, Kiwanis and Elks clubs and Painters and Decorators Local 525.

The body was taken to the Williamson Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 7-9 p.m. Sunday.

Funeral services will be conducted at Central Christian church at 2 p.m. Monday with Reverend William Sturgess officiating. Burial will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Take on only routine problems on the job today. Anything unusual should be shelved for the time being.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 21) — An excellent morning for making professional or business progress — but only if you've made good plans beforehand.

ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 20) — A matter of personal finances may cause some embarrassment this morning. Don't be distressed; seek an answer instead.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — New and vital progress toward your present goal should be the result of today's labors. Don't bite off more than you can chew, however.

Denney Rites At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — Funeral services for Clarence Denney were held Thursday at the Wolfe Memorial Home with Rev. H. L. Janvrin officiating.

Organ music was furnished by Mrs. William Admire.

Pallbearers were William Admire, William S. Day, William J. Locher, Dale Gibbins, Robert McCaherty, and Billy Ferguson.

Interment was in Fernwood cemetery.

STATE POLICE PROBE TWO ACCIDENTS ON HIGHWAYS FRIDAY

Persons in four vehicles escaped injury Friday evening in two separate accidents occurring on highways in the immediate Jacksonville area.

Investigating state police reported that two cars were damaged about six o'clock Friday evening two miles east of Chapin on Ill. 104.

Troopers said that an east-bound auto, operated by Betty Jean Cox, 20, of Canton, Mo. attempted to pass another east-bound vehicle.

She told police that when she saw more than two cars in her lane, she attempted to return to her lane of traffic. Another east-bound vehicle, following behind the Cox car, driven by Landis G. Pond, 52, of route three, Mt. Sterling, had moved up in the lane of traffic.

When the Cox car attempted to return to the eastbound lane it struck the Landis vehicle.

Summer Playground For Grade School Children

The summer playground for all grade school children, sponsored by the Big Brother-Big Sister Association of Morgan County, will begin Monday, June 19, according to an announcement by Dana MacKay, executive secretary.
Two playgrounds will be used — one at Jefferson Elementary School and one at the Salem Lutheran School parking lot. The program will be in operation from 9 through 1 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday of each week through August 4.
The supervised activities will include soft ball, volley ball, hiking, craft work, croquet, dodge ball, and any other games or crafts the children are interested in.
In case of rain, the activities will move to the Recreation Center, 114 E. Beecher.
Upperclasses
On Wednesday, June 21, the Recreation Center will be open from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for Junior-high and high school students. The evening's program will include supervised dancing, table tennis and billiards.
According to MacKay, planning is under way for numerous field trips during the summer months. The organization has been promised tickets for a Cardinal baseball game in St. Louis.
Although the organization has three paid playground workers, there is still an acute need for volunteer workers. Anyone from high school age young people up who can spend even a few hours with the grade school children, supervising playground games, should contact Dana MacKay (243-1294) after 5 p.m.
In addition to MacKay and John Porter, recreation assistant, the workers include Mrs. Robert Schedel, from the social work department at IBSSS; Miss Melissa Moore, from Washington, D.C., who is a junior at Illinois College and who has had several years of experience in playground work; and Miss Susan Johnson, Jacksonville, also a junior at Illinois College.
MacKay also said that many children have requested that the Recreation Center be open on Saturday afternoons during the summer, similar to the program during the school months. This can be done, MacKay said, if enough volunteers can be obtained to assist in such additional activities.

No Food Cures Arthritis
By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q — My mother has arthritis. A man came to our door last week selling special foods which he said would cure her arthritis. Are there really foods that will cure arthritis?
A — The big answer is NO. To date, intensive legitimate scientific research can find no food that causes arthritis or any food that cures it.
Devices and diets, health spas and uranium mines, "immunized" milk and magnetic rings, even books that have made the best-seller list all have hit the limelight from time to time only to fill the arthritis sufferer with false hope of a miraculous cure. In almost every instance they are worthless and often expensive.
Before you buy, check medications, devices or any other product with your family doctor or with your local chapter of The Arthritis Foundation. They will prevent waste of your money and your health. For every $1 spent this year in legitimate research for the cause and cure of arthritis, $20 will be spent on useless quack "cures."
MASTER OF LIGHT TO BE TOPIC OF EXCHANGE MEETING
Ray E. Baxter Jr., internal communications manager for General Telephone Company of Illinois, will present a program entitled "Master of Light" for an Exchange Club meeting at the Ranch House restaurant Monday, June 26.
Mr. Baxter's presentation concerns the properties of light and ways in which man has mastered them. The discussion will include the uses of the Laser beam in industry, medicine, communications and for military purposes and will demonstrate the beam's ability to carry music and voices.
Mr. Baxter is a graduate of DePauw university at Greencastle, Ind.

BETHEL A.M.E. GROUP TO OBSERVE MISSIONARY DAY
The Violet Brown Women's Missionary Society of Bethel A.M.E. Church will observe Annual Missionary Day Sunday, June 25 with special services morning and afternoon.
Miss Myrtle Mae Miller of Gary, Indiana, will speak at the morning worship service at 11 a.m. Her theme will be "Commitment. Commission. Concern." Evangelist Miller is chairman of Christian Social Relations of the Fourth Episcopal District. A.M.E. Church serves as minister of the junior church at First A.M.E. Church in Gary, and as a member of the Mayor's committee on human relations, she is active in work with problem children and delinquent youth.
At 3 p.m. representatives of women's societies of the city will appear, and special music will be provided. A feature of the afternoon will be selection of "Queen For The Day". Mrs. Josephine Burton and Mrs. Elizabeth Trumbo are in competition for the honor.
In charge of arrangements are: Mrs. Isabel Patrick, chairman, Mrs. Cornelia Carter, Mrs. Marian Clay, Mrs. Margaret Mitchell and Mrs. Elgin Cooper. Church women's societies are especially invited.
Both services will be held in the temporary location at the Y.M.C.A. Rev. M. Boyde Patrick is church pastor.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT TRAVELERS CHECKS!

We're very sentimental about vacations. We hate to see anyone take even the slightest chance of losing his travel money and spoiling all the fun.
That's why we're great fans of First National City Travelers Checks. Carrying them is like carrying a theft-proof wallet. If they're ever lost or stolen, you get your money back. That doesn't happen with cash. But First National City Travelers Checks has built a network of 25,000 banking offices world-wide where you can get a fast refund on the spot.
And you can spend them at more than a million places around the world. They've been welcomed for 63 years.
In fact, there are so many advantages to these checks that we've put together a booklet about them. If you would like a copy, just come in and ask for one.

Births

Word has been received here of the birth on June 15th of a son to Chief and Mrs. Carl D. Jarvis at the Naval Base in Iceland. This is the couple's first child and the infant, weight eight and one-half pounds, has been named Steven Carl. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jarvis of Bluffs are the paternal grandparents. The mother is the former Norma Turner of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. John David, 315 Hardin avenue, became parents of a son born at 10:22 a.m. Friday at Passavant hospital.

Schedule Rites For 2-Year-Old Drowning Victim

Funeral services for two-year-old Loy Raymond Lyons II, whose body was found floating in a pond on the family farm near Waverly Friday, will be held in Waverly Monday.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy R. Lyons Sr., who live four miles south of Waverly.

Morgan County Deputy Coroner A. W. Mathias said the boy's body was discovered by his mother, who began searching for him when he wandered away from the house. Mrs. Lyons pulled the child from the pond before notifying authorities at 4:15 p.m.

The Jacksonville Rescue Squad was summoned and used resuscitation equipment in an unsuccessful attempt to revive the boy.

Deputy Coroner Mathias said an inquest will be held.

Loy Raymond Lyons II was born August 22, 1964; son of Loy and Jerelyn Bond Lyons.

He is survived by his parents, a sister, Margaret Rose; his grandmothers, Mrs. Pearl Lyons and Mrs. Mildred Bonds and several aunts and uncles.

The body was taken to the Neece Funeral Home at Waverly where friends may call this evening.

Funeral services are set at 2 p.m. Monday at the funeral home. Reverend Robert Kater officiating. Burial will be in Waverly cemetery.

TWO RELEASED ON BOND SATURDAY
A local man and an Alexander resident were released on bond Saturday after being taken into custody Friday evening by state and city police.

The two were identified as Daniel Long, 22, of route one, Alexander, released on $100 bond. Long was charged with reckless driving and eluding a police officer.

The other man was identified as Bennie Long, 33, of 1204 Allen avenue, who was charged with disorderly conduct, and released on $25 bond.

The pair is expected to appear in court at a later date.

Press-Judiciary Guidelines Bill Loses In Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Senate Executive Committee Friday rejected 15-3 a proposed $15,000 commission to set up guide lines to avoid judicial - news media conflicts such as occurred in the Speck case.

In the Peoria trial of Richard Speck for the murder of eight nurses in Chicago, a judge imposed restrictions which chafed some news media representatives.

Sens. Arthur Gottschalk, R-Flossmoor, and Dennis Collins, R-DeKalb, supported the bill, sponsored by Rep. Thomas Rose, R-Jacksonville.

"This is a tender area of dispute over what can be said and how," Gottschalk said. "There is a need for a guide. 'There is a need to know what they can print.'"

Collins said "the press and the judiciary should be able to get together and protect everybody."

The bill was passed overwhelmingly by the House 156-1.

Cook Co. Board Head To Speak To GOP Here

Cook County Board President, Richard B. Ogilvie will discuss "How to Win in a Metropolitan Area" - in a major speech delivered on Saturday evening, June 24 here.

Ogilvie's address will climax a three day Campaign Management Seminar sponsored by the Republican National Committee. The sessions will begin on Thursday, June 22 on the campus of Illinois College in Jacksonville.

Attending the seminar will be GOP officials from all levels of government, both elected and representatives of various Republican groups.

The Jacksonville seminar is one of a series of regional meetings being conducted by the National Committee at the request of Ray Bliss, the GOP National Chairman.

Ogilvie's topic will emphasize the stress being placed by top party leadership on the problems faced by Republican candidates in states with large metropolitan areas.

West Independence Housing Project To Open Here July 1

The second phase of public housing will be occupied starting July 1 according to William Cole, executive director of the Morgan County Housing Authority.

Cole said the West Independence complex, which includes 40 units, will be ready for occupancy for those families who qualify.

Not all of the units have been rented in advance, according to Cole.

The delay from the initial period of opening Walnut Court to the present has eliminated many of the applicants who originally applied. Most prospective applicants have either moved into other quarters or do not qualify because of increased earnings.

The break-down of the 40 units to be occupied includes two 3-bedroom, 12 4-bedroom, 14 3-bedroom and 12 2-bedroom units. The West Independence complex has a large community building for the benefit of the residents and the public.

Applications are being accepted for the complex at the Morgan County Housing Authority offices, 300 East Walnut, at the Walnut Court development.

Mr. Cole encouraged prospective residents to make application or inquiry into living in the complex.

Cole also encouraged prospective residents of the special units for the elderly to start making applications. The first units are expected to be ready by September 1 at the South West Street complex. All ready by that time will be the low rise type. The ten-story high-rise apartment building is expected to be completed by next March.

In the elderly complex, 32 units will be available in the low rise section and 148 units in the high-rise building.

When completed, the three developments will represent a $5 million investment, financed by the federal government.

Entrance requirements are somewhat flexible, depending upon the individual family situation. Generally, a family of seven could rent a four-bedroom unit if the adjusted income was $5,800. Rent is paid on the basis of 22.8 per cent of the "adjusted" income.

In figuring the "adjusted" income, a basic formula is used: first, deduct ten per cent of the earned income for occupational expense and social security, etc. Next, deduct support payments up to $15 per week maximum for one parent who may have a responsibility from a previous marriage. Then, deduct up to $25 per week for care of children in the household or incapacitated member of family. Consider the first $600 earned by the spouse (wife or husband) as "free." This amount is not counted toward the "adjusted" income. If whatever is left is $5,800 or less, the family is qualified for entrance.

The second year, the "adjusted" income is allowed to increase by 25 per cent and eligibility is still maintained for the public housing requirement.

What does this mean in terms of salary that the family might be able to earn and still enter the housing development? A "not so typical" family for one of the 4-bedroom units could be eligible under the following unusual circumstances.

A husband and wife, married, in which the husband may be required to pay up to $15 per week support for children of a previous marriage. The couple has three children and the wife may not be physically able to provide all the care necessary to tend the children, although she may, at some time during the year, secure a job and earn up to $600.

Suppose this "not so typical" husband earns about $135 per week on a year-around basis. When you deduct up to $780 for child support, up to $1,300 for care of children in the household or other incapacitated member of the family; the 10 per cent for occupational expenses; the first $600 for the wife's income which isn't counted, the "adjusted" income is below the $5,800 maximum.

It's true, there aren't too many families with the specific situations as listed. The gross example is listed to show simply that the "adjusted" income may seem deceiving to many families who would otherwise be eligible for entrance. In the example, the husband and wife's combined income could be as much as $8,000 and still qualify for the first year. The second year of residence, the income could reach higher than $10,000 because of the 25 per cent increase allowed.

The deductions listed are only a few. Persons with veterans' pensions as a part of their income and other non-working income cash payments could qualify even more easily.

Rental on the 4-bedroom ranges to a maximum of $83 per month and this includes all utilities (heat, light, water, sewer, garbage collection, TV antenna service and upkeep), stove and refrigerator.

Elderly Requirements
Requirements for entrance to the elderly units are different than the family units. One member of the couple, or the individual, who applies must be age 62 or disabled. All rents are on a flat-rate basis.

A single person will pay $31 per month if they make less than $1,200 annual income. An individual, living alone, will be allowed up to $2,600 per year income and pay $36.

Couples will pay $41 per month and be allowed a combined income of $3,300 per year for the first year and up to $4,100 the second year (the allowable 25% increase). The "adjusted" income is computed in the same manner as those applying to families and, in reality, could range somewhat higher than the maximum listed as far as actual income.

Of the elderly units scheduled to be available in the next few months, about two-thirds are already rented on a tentative basis. Applications should be made at the Housing authority office.

The rates and admission policies are available to the public at the Morgan County Housing Authority office in Walnut Terrace Homes, 300 East Walnut.

OPEN SANDY BEACH—Sandy Beach, located on the shores of Lake Jacksonville, officially opened Saturday afternoon with temperatures in the high seventies. Approximately 30 swimmers were at the beach when a photographer appeared on the scene. New sand has been spread along the beach, and roads to the location have been freshly graded for the convenience of swimmers driving to the area.

Hospital Notes

Miss Mabel Hopkins of Roodhouse is a medical patient at Passavant hospital. Miss Hopkins is the correspondent at Roodhouse for the Jacksonville Journal Courier.

Former Cass Man Frank Otken, 38, Dies Of Wound

A former Ashland man, Frank J. R. Otken, 38, of Morrisville, father of 10 children died early Saturday morning at his home, the apparent victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Christian County Coroner Thomas Doyle said that Otken died of head wounds inflicted by a .38 caliber automatic revolver in the bedroom of his home about two o'clock Saturday morning.

Doyle said that Otken's body was discovered by his wife, who was in an adjacent room when the incident occurred.

Otken was employed as a mechanic at Jones Motors in Morrisville.

He was born July 5, 1928 in Panther Creek township, Cass county, one of three children of John and Alta Mibb Otken, who survive, of Ashland.

He was married to Alene Coop, March 8, 1952 at Rushville, Ill. She survives.

Children surviving include seven sons, Dana, Kenneth, Alvin, Gary, Terry, Philip, and David; three daughters, Donna, Gulitta, and Brenda, all at home; two sisters, Mrs. Stanley Draughan, Springfield, and already rented on a tentative basis. Applications should be made at the Housing authority office.

The rates and admission policies are available to the public at the Morgan County Housing Authority office in Walnut Terrace Homes, 300 East Walnut.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the Fishburn Funeral Home in Morrisville with Rev. William Vickers officiating.

The deceased was a member of the Leslie Redick Post of the American Legion.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday from the Fishburn Funeral Home in Morrisville with Rev. William Vickers officiating.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Monday. Burial arrangements are incomplete.

Extension Referendum Will Be Listed On The Nov. 7 Election Ballot

Morgan County citizens will be called on to vote on a county Extension referendum at the November 7 election, it was announced today by Dale Lepper, chairman of the Morgan County Agricultural Extension Council and Mrs. Robert Worrell, chairman of Morgan-Scott Home Economics Extension Council.

The referendum is necessary to provide local funds which are needed to continue the Cooperative Extension Service in the county. The Morgan County commissioners recently approved the request of the Extension Councils for the November referendum.

Cooperative Extension is the educational program bringing research results from the University of Illinois, other land grant Colleges and the U.S. Department of Agriculture to local people. Program areas include: 4-H Club Work, programs for homemakers, farmers, business and professional groups, home owners and other people in the county. Services of Extension through the office of the farm adviser are available to every person in Morgan County.

Funds from local sources are needed to provide secretarial help, rent, telephone, postage, office supplies and county travel. The Cooperative Extension Services has from the beginning been financed by funds from federal, state, and local sources. For the last 49 years local funds needed to support the Cooperative Extension Service in Morgan County have been provided by the Morgan County Farm Bureau and by the Morgan-Scott Homemakers Extension Association. Sufficient funds are no longer available from these sources, making it necessary to seek other means of support if the program is to be continued in the county.

Education For All
Obtaining funds is in keeping with the recommendations of Sec. of Ag. Orville Freeman and University of Illinois President David Henry. Their recommendation was that since Cooperative Extension is an educational program serving all citizens, the primary financial support for their programs and their administration should be public tax funds provided from federal, state, and county appropriations.

Morgan County residents will be asked whether or not a tax of not to exceed one cent (.01) per $100.00 of the full fair cash value as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue of all taxable property in the county be levied annually for the Morgan County Cooperative Extension Service adult, youth, and 4-H educational programs, under the "County Cooperative Extension Law of the State of Illinois."
